WEATHER PREVENTS EARLY JUMP-OFF FOR ICY ICELAND

On board United States Cruiser, Richmond, Houton Bay, off Scotland, July 31 (via radio to International News Service)—The flight of the United States army round the world aviators from the Orkney Islands to Iceland was postponed today on account of heavy fog. The flyers hope to take off tomorrow morning if weather conditions are favorable.

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
On Board U. S. S. Cruiser Richmond, Houton Bay, off Scotland, July 31. (Via Radio.)—A thick, low-hanging fog delayed the departure of the United States army round the world flyers from Kirkwall for Iceland today.

Lieut. Lowell M. Smith, American flight commander, and his five companions, who arrived from Brough, England at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had a nice night's rest and were up early scanning the horizon and awaiting word from the American patrol ships regarding weather conditions between Scotland and Iceland.

Before the sun rose above the horizon of the sea the Americans were tinkering with their planes, seeing that everything was in readiness for the hop off over the north Atlantic.

The distance from Kirkwall to Houton Bay, Iceland, is about 500 miles. Two United States destroyers, the Reid and Billingsley, are stationed between this port and the Iceland coast. Two stops are to be made at Iceland. The cruiser Richmond, flagship of the guard fleet, with Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder on board, will follow the flyers from Houton Bay.

Reports from Iceland said that fog was general in that district and that it would be dangerous to try to find the coast.

GOES TO GLASSBORO, N. J.

The final dismantling of the old post-office in the Ross & Woods building took place today when carpenters from Glassboro, New Jersey, arrived in town and proceeded at once to rip out old fixtures and equipment and load the same on a truck to ship to the New Jersey town.

The Glassboro postmaster purchased the office equipment from Ross & Woods last week.

We shiver for the fate of the ten commandments when some of those "Jersey skeeters" tackle the combinations on those boxes we are so pleased to see leave town.

Basle, July 31—Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator who is attempting a round the world flight, passed here at 9:15 o'clock enroute for Strassbourg from Geneva.

YE OLD TYME MUGGE IS GONE FOR ALL TYME

Boys of this town no longer look forward to the time when a fancy colored, gold lettered, beautifully (?) designed shaving cup, bearing their names can be added to the long line gracing the barber's shelf. Men no longer point with pride to their cup bearing the tools of their trade, strangers may no longer learn the names of the business men by looking over the shelf, for the time-honored row is disappearing, slowly but surely.

Two reasons are given for the disappearance of the alleged works of art—first: They were unsanitary, because when used only once or twice a week, they were wonderful germ and disease carriers. Second, the pictures, pretty, but sometimes risqué, offend the women who have invaded the former sanctumsanctorum of the male species.

Now, no individual articles grace the shop. Shelves which formerly held the cups are laden with face lotions, curling irons, tonics guaranteed to produce a permanent wave, (good for ten hours), pictures of famous women, showing their modes of bobbing, etc.

Mayhap, the barbers say, the day will soon come when the cups will be replaced by beautifully decorated individual curling irons. Maybe, vanity cases bearing the names, in gold letters, of women patrons will fill the shelves.

However, until that time comes, the "objects of beauty" are passe, in what has been aptly termed, "The Barber Shoppe".

STATE'S ATTORNEYS VIGOROUSLY OPPOSE ALIENIST TESTIMONY

By GEORGE E. HOLMES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
Criminal Court Building, Chicago, July 31.—The legal battle over whether alienists are to be permitted to testify that Nathan Leopold, Jr., and "Dicky" Loeb are afflicted with "functional mental diseases," even though not insane, waxed hotter and hotter in Judge John R. Caverly's court today, where the blithe young collegians are on trial for their lives for the kidnapping and slaying of little Bobby Franks.

Several times Judge Caverly indicated that he was tired of the argument, and that he was not going to change his decision that the psychiatrists should be allowed to give their testimony "for what it is worth," but the state's attorneys continued, doggedly and persistently, to prove to him by precedents and authorities that his decision was wrong and unprecedented.

The state continued to accuse the defense of seeking to set up a defense of insanity under long-winded scientific names.

"Depravity of character and abandoned habits are not evidence of insanity," read Assistant State's Attorney Marshall from a huge volume of Illinois Supreme Court decisions.

"Even so," broke in Judge Caverly, "is that any reason why the court should not hear evidence of depravity of character and abandoned habits either in aggravation of the crime on the state's side, or in mitigation of the punishment on the side of the defense?"

"We have eliminated here the question of insanity, and nothing bearing on the insanity of these defendants will be permitted to go in."

But evidence of depravity and the boys' mental condition, the courts went on, certainly constituted admissible evidence and he expressed the opinion that to exclude it would be tantamount to committing a reversible error, which might throw the case back from the Supreme Court.

"How are you going to prove depravity and habits by these so-called experts?" demanded State's Attorney Crowe.

"It is perfectly apparent the defense is not calling these alienists to prove depravity. They are going to testify to a lot of hearsay, conversations, etc., on which they have constructed theories as to their mental condition and their responsibility for this crime."

Judge Caverly placidly recited that it was entirely problematical anyway what the effect the testimony of the scientists would have in forming his decision.

"I may strike it all out," he said, "or none at all, or part of it. But I cannot tell whether it is admissible evidence until I know what it is."

Clarence Darrow, the resourceful chief of the defense, broke in, and said to Crowe:

"When you were a judge on the bench, Mr. Crowe, did you not hear evidence of insanity in a plea of guilty to first degree murder?"

"How about the alienists who testified in the Fitzgerald case?" returned Darrow.

"He merely testified that the man was a burglar," retorted Crowe, "but Fitzgerald was sentenced to hang and was hanged too."

"That's because you sentenced him," said Darrow, smiling, and the court broke into laughter, in which both Leopold and Loeb joined.

Judge Caverly finally reminded the State's Attorney that they had the privilege of putting on rebuttal alienists after they have seen what the defense alienists say. Crowe said that was not the point at all—that the only point was that the common law in this state demanded a jury to hear any evidence on sanity or insanity.

They wrangled and wrangled, going over the same ground they went over yesterday. Darrow and Crowe shouted at each other.

Judge Caverly finally stopped it. "Oh, oh on with your argument," he said to the state's attorneys, and Marshall then resumed the reading of the law books and decisions from many courts in many states.

CONNELLSVILLE MAN
REACHES CENTURY MARK

Connellsville, Pa., July 31.—Daniel C. Hood celebrated passing the century mark here today by taking an automobile to Uniontown, where he was received by county and court officials. There was a "party" for him at home this afternoon and he received hundreds of friends.

SERIOUS OUTBREAK AT KLAN MEETING IN MASSACHUSETTS

Haverhill, Mass., July 31 (INS).—Five men are known to have suffered gun shot wounds in two new out breaks of violence between members of the Ku Klux Klan and anti-klanmen here and at Groveland early today. Numerous other participants in the mob warfare were injured by stones and clubs.

Three of the men shot were found to be so seriously injured that they were operated upon immediately at the Gale hospital.

Members of the State Constabulary sheriffs and deputies and local police, are attempting to prevent a further outbreak.

The gathering was said to be the largest Klan gathering in the history of the state. About 5000 members assembled on the farm of Clarence Hardy at Groveland. It was not until the klanmen crossed the Merrimac river at Haverhill, that serious violence occurred. Three members of the Klan opened fire with rifles and revolvers on their hecklers, who retaliated with rocks and clubs.

The five men suffering from gun shot wounds all claim to be opponents of the hooded order.

Police made a score of arrests. All taken in custody, they say, are klan men.

The three men taken to the Gale Hospital, are Edward Lucey, Frank Cotton and James Connolly, all of Haverhill. They are technically under arrest. They claim they were riding in the machine of James Culbert of Haverhill, when a truck owned by M. O. Lane of the same city, loaded with klanmen passed and opened fire. Police say the three alleged they were unarmed.

Lucey and six of his companions, all Haverhill men, were arrested and charged with disturbing the peace. A small arsenal was taken from the truck.

Sixteen shot guns, several revolvers, a large quantity of ammunition iron bars, lead pipes, black jacks and clubs were taken from the scene of more of alleged klanmen arrested. According to the police there was an open display of arms by the klanmen as they left the meeting place. Many shots were fired and the air was filled with flying missiles. Countless windshields were broken and other damage inflicted on the automobiles.

A squad with brooms marched ahead of the klan cars, sweeping the roadway clear of nails and glass.

Twenty arrests have been made.

Rotarians Get Another Night Of Advice On Taking Care Of Boys

An inspiring talk on "The Boy and Boys Work" was given the members of the Clearfield Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting at the Jordan last evening. The speaker was Theodore Jackson, who has been engaged nationally in boys work, under the auspices of Community Service, for years, and knows his subject from every angle and close personal contact and experience. Mr. Jackson was brought here by the Boys Work Committee and his visit and talk was certainly worth while.

During the progress of the meeting a rising vote of thanks was tendered Callahan and Leavy for last week's beef steak dinner at Goheen and Louis Shapiro was given similar recognition for presenting the Club with a beautiful gong for use of the President.

Rotarian John F. Short, local delegate to that recent famous New York Democratic convention, was asked for a little "inside slant" on that remarkable gathering and gave a highly interesting fifteen minute description of the gathering, together with a number of personal experiences that were well worth telling.

As was to be expected the delegate boosted both the convention and its candidates, declaring the outcome was a tribute to the earnestness, intelligence and judgment of the delegates en masse and simply goes to show what the unbridled, unbossed, untrammeled and untutored Democracy can accomplish when they sit down to reason with one another.

Rotarian guests present were Messrs. Johnson and Kenney, of DuBois, and Captain May, of Bear Falls, Pa. Mr. Zacharias, of Cleveland, was also a guest of his friend John Hess.

EARLY ARRIVALS AT COMMENCEMENT ARE SURE TO GET A SEAT

The committee in charge of the transportation for the kiddies of the Daily Vacation Bible School picnic at the Pee Wee's Nest will need about 50 cars to report at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning between 9:30 and 10 o'clock.

The more cars that report the less work it will be for everyone and it is desired that the transportation committee be able to have enough cars so that each car will have to make but one trip.

Haverhill, Mass., July 31 (INS).—A heavy guard was on duty when 21 participants in the Ku Klux Klan rioting went on trial today before Judge Winn in District Court. The other three men arrested are at the Gale hospital under treatment for gunshot wounds inflicted with shot-guns loaded with rock salt.

When Judge Winn asked who represented the 21 prisoners, John R. Boston, of Ohio, the Klan organizer, who hired the field which was the scene of last night's rioting, stepped forward, smoking a cigar. The court ordered him from the room to dispose of the cigar. The defendants had failed to secure the services of City Solicitor Frederick Magison, although ex-City Solicitor A. F. Priest did join the Klan's legal force.

Over four hundred of the cream of the youth of Clearfield are ready to demonstrate this evening to their parents and friends their knowledge of the fundamentals of the Christian religion as recorded in the Holy Bible and as taught by the excellent corps of volunteer instructors presiding over the Vacation Bible School.

Promptly at 7:15 o'clock the doors of Trinity will swing open to receive the guests of the little folks and those larger folks who have contributed so much to the success of this laudable summer work in the name of the Master. It will not be an ordinary child's recital but there are some numbers on prizes.

Tomorrow the school will come to a close with a big picnic at the park. The weather man has promised to be good and we believe he will keep his word. Cars will report at the Presbyterian Church at 9:30, no later, to transport the kiddies to the big time. Lend a hand. After seeing the performance this evening you will want to.

DAVIS BACK FROM THE TALL STICKS READY FOR FRAY

By DAVID SENTNER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, July 31.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, arrived at Grand Central station at 10:15 this morning from the Maine woods, where he had spent an enjoyable two weeks holiday vacation and prepared the preliminary draft of his speech of acceptance.

The candidate said he "felt fine" and he looked much better than when he left. He posed for photographers and was immediately whisked to the Murray Hill hotel, where he planned to confer with his political advisers.

Arrest Suspects In Alleged K.K.K. Slaying In West Virginia Town

St. Louis, Mo., July 31. (INS).—Charges that the Ku Klux Klan had avenged a wrong done them, and spirited them out of West Virginia until "things blew over" were made here today by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Brown, of Fairmount, W. Va., who are in police custody here following receipt of information from West Virginia authorities that the pair are wanted at Fairmount in connection with the shooting there of Sam Washington, a negro cook, who is alleged to have insulted Mrs. Brown.

Harry Cathcart, chief of police of Olanta, was a business caller to Clearfield today. He reports everything quiet in the Pike township metropolis.

BRADFORD MAN IS SHOT DEAD AS HE RIDES THRU STREET

Bradford, Pa., July 31 (INS).—Tony Gero is being held here by authorities today in connection with the killing of George Kelly, 40, of this city who was shot through the head and instantly killed early today when Kelly and three other men in an automobile stopped on one of the main streets of Bradford. A man ran up to the machine and shot Kelly. Joseph W. Snyder of Degolia when taken to the jail identified Gero as the slayer, according to police.

The motive of the crime is said to have been revenge.

Rail Workers Are Held In Wreck Which Killed One And Injured Four

New York, July 31. (INS).—Two employees of the Long Island railroad were arrested today in connection with the wreck in the Sunny Side yards, Long Island City, late yesterday in which one person was killed and four injured. They are James J. Moor, locomotive helper, Rahway, N. J., and Alfred C. Hunt, a tower man. Moor, it is claimed, caused two cars of a ten-car train to be derailed when he threw a switch before the train had completely passed. The cars were overturned.

Miss Walburta Buck, 30, of Flushing, died an hour after the wreck. One of the cars was demolished when it crashed into an electric locomotive on another track. Passengers were pinned underneath seats and cut by flying glass as the car overturned. Many had to be pulled from the wreckage.

Hunt, the towerman, was arrested with Moor on a technical charge of homicide. It is alleged Hunt controlled the switch from the signal tower.

SUIT TO TEST ROAD BOND ISSUE FILED

Harrisburg, July 31. (INS).—A suit to test the constitutionality of Pennsylvania's $50,000,000 road bond issue was filed today in the Dauphin county court.

Charles Hollinger, a member of the state retirement system, filed a suit in equity asking that the retirement board be restrained from purchasing $25,000 worth of the bonds for which it bid, on the ground that the enabling act is not legal for it does not specify the purpose for which the money is intended.

He claims that he is doing this to protect his own and the interests of the other members of the system because their money is jeopardized by being tied up in the bonds inasmuch as the act is illegal.

It is now up to the attorney general to defend the constitutionality of the act, and through the court proceedings it is hoped to get an opinion from the state supreme court in the fall.

Elijah Goodyear, the coal baron, and not the prophet whose name he bears, was a Clearfield visitor today.

CHESTS OUT, MEN, WE LICKED 'EM TO A FRAZZLE; CLEARFIELD GOLFERS TAKE DUBOIS SLICERS INTO CAMP

The golf team of the Clearfield-Curtisville Country Club is going about this morning collectively sticking out its 29 manly bosoms. The reason for this "pouter-pigeon" effect on our athletic friends is occasioned by the fact that they have found somebody they can lick. They discovered this "somebody" yesterday when they neatly trimmed DuBois on the local Country Club grounds. We are too modest to go further in recounting the deeds of valor of the home boys. We will let DuBois do it. Here is what this morning's Courier has to say about it:

The golf players from the local Country Club went to the Clearfield club yesterday afternoon with the intention of annexing a victory at the expense of the county seat players, but after a strenuous afternoon of play the 28 players were forced to bow to defeat by a score of 17 to 12. The play for the most part took place in a driving rainstorm, making low scores few and far between.

Clearfield, although showing no mercy to the DuBois players out on the course, demonstrated that they knew how to play the part of host, serving an unusually excellent dinner in the evening.

The tabulated score:

Madera Merchants Form Chamber Of Commerce; Jos. A. Shoff Is President

The merchants and business men of Madera, at a meeting held last Monday afternoon in Liberty Hall, organized a local Chamber of Commerce.

The men say the necessity of effecting an organization for better efficiency in advertising the merits of Madera through periodic combined sales, etc. An effort will also be made to attract industries to the town. Also through such an organization it will be possible to stimulate retail trade, and the merchants can help to protect each other against losses from bad accounts.

Joseph A. Shoff was elected president of the Chamber for the ensuing six months, William McMurray, treasurer, and Martam McCamley, Charles Haines, Aaron Baron, Jacob Smith and Dr. J. M. Corley members of the Advisory Board. The secretary will be elected at a meeting of the Chamber next Monday evening, August 4, in the lobby of the Liberty Inn.

It is planned to hold a dinner in the near future, at which the program of the Chamber will be aggressively inaugurated.

4 U. S. ARMY PLANES SWOOP ON GRETTA TO WATCH DRILLING

Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 31 (INS).—The dropping of airplane motors far overhead, mingled with the creaking of leather trappings, as the 1500 cavalrymen of the 52nd Cavalry brigade went through the formations given in the time honored drill book, and added a few flourishes of their own.

Four of the giant birds from the United States air depot at Minneola, swooped down on the camp shortly before the drill started, and remained for several hours, watching the marching and counter marching of the khaki-clad riders. The aviators spent the entire morning tracing the courses of the two cavalry regiments—the 103rd and 104th—through the tangled underbrush and thicket about the camp.

Today, war-grim ghastly war, will be waged, the battle will continue for the rest of the week. Yesterday's maneuvering were in preparation for the "war" in which the two outfits will chase, and run from each other, zalloping through the woods, trotting over the green valleys, and mayhap often leading their horses slowly up a pass towards the top of one of the many mountains surrounding the camp.

The aviators again reached the camp at the "ze-o hour" this morning and watched the start of the battle.

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE

New York, July 31 (INS).—Harry Mack, 25, stock broker, accidentally killed himself here today in his apartment on West 58th street in the presence of his fiancée, Peggy Cook of Philadelphia. Mack was giving a party to celebrate the girl's arrival here for a vacation.

Mack had pressed a revolver to his temple to show her that it wouldn't discharge, the girl told police. He died instantly. A moment before he had pulled the trigger against her forehead to quick, her fears that the gun was loaded, she said.

Japan's Tribute to MacLaren

Major Stuart MacLaren (left), commander of the British 'round-the-world' flight, was handed this bouquet at the celebration staged in his honor upon his arrival in Tokyo. The presentation was made by the 15-year-old daughter of Seifu Karuchi, director of the Japan Imperial Aviation Society. Flight Officer W. N. Plenderleith, who flew from London to Japan with MacLaren in the Vicker-Vulture, is seen in the center.

REEDSVILLE AGAIN VICTORIOUS

The West Side girls lost on their own court last evening to the Reeds-ville team in the Playground Volley Ball League, 8-15 and 6-15. While the West Siders fought hard their morale was somewhat shattered by the spectators at times, which helped in their downfall. They have met for one of the best teams in the league if properly developed and time will probably see them forging toward the top. Capt. Eva Mitchell did all she could in encouraging her teammates. The Reeds-ville machine put up their usual type of game with Betty Walker doing her accustomed stunt of getting the ball to ten points on her service. The remainder of the team divided up the points. Their team lead the league with four wins and no losses. The lineups follow:

West Side: Eva Mitchell, captain; Eleanor Bauman, Evelyn Dougherty,

Lenore Dougherty, Helen Myers, Anna-bell Walthers. Reeds-ville: Mary Walker, captain; Betty Walker, Nellie McCoy, Ruth Bloom, Mable Bloom, Emelie Bain, Margaret Lynn.

Sick Room Hint.

When patient's mouth becomes dry and parched during the night, a piece of orange held in the mouth from time to time will quench thirst. The orange should be cut into small pieces and put within easy reach of the invalid. It will be easier to handle than a glass of water and is more refreshing.

True Fortitude.

True fortitude I take to be the quiet possession of a man's self, and an undisturbed doing of his duty, whatever evil begets or danger lies in the way. Locke.

Harrisburg And Utica Have Learned Lesson; Paid Baseball A Loss

Harrisburg, Pa., July 31, (INS.)—The fate of Harrisburg's baseball team in the New York-Pennsylvania league hangs on the number of fans at today's game with Scranton, according to Mercer B. Tate, chairman of a booster committee that is fighting to save the team.

"If the crowd today is slim, it means Harrisburg isn't interested in league baseball," declared Tate.

Because of the small crowds that have been witnessing league games, the finances of this city's club have been very low all season and it was decided to put the issue up to the fans.

If Harrisburg fans there will be but six teams in the league, as Utica announced yesterday that they will withdraw because of heavy financial setbacks.

STOCKHOLDERS ENTERTAIN

Weather Aids Wireless.

A curious thing about wireless telegraphy is the way it is affected by sunrise and sunset. Transatlantic signals during the day are invariably clear, but those received at sunrise and sunset are said to be barely distinguishable.

Intricate Piece of Machinery.

A watch is comparatively a simple machine, containing an average of about 150 distinct parts. However, by actual count it has been found that the production of these parts require over 2,700 separate operations.

Falling!

The camera has caught the falling steeple of old St. John's Church in Salina, Kas., suspended in mid-air. Each brick in the church, which has been razed to make room for a more modern building, represents a 10-cent contribution made by members when the structure was built 30 years ago.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

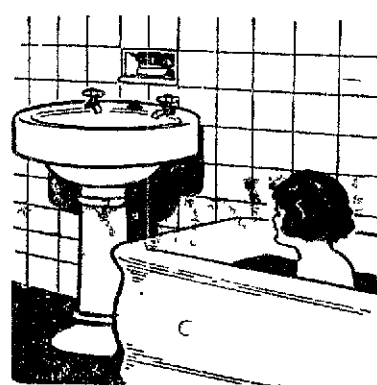

St. Louis, Missouri.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken twelve bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it." Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Aristocratic Plumbing

compared with that of a half century ago is a revelation. The ordinary bathroom of today rivals that of a millionaire fifty years back, and yet every year marks further progress towards perfection in sanitary plumbing. This is the class of work we are ambitious to turn out right along, and we are succeeding.

Fodder Hung in Trees.
In Cashmere a novel method of putting fodder away for winter use is in vogue. The chief industry of the people consists in raising fine wool and in making this into fabrics which have carried the name of the country all over the world. As in winter snow lies some five or six yards deep, supplies of hay are hung among the branches of trees, where they are easily reached by the flocks of sheep.

PICNIC SUPPLIES

When you go on your picnics, you will find that it's much cheaper and far more convenient for you to use the paper dishes we have than to try and take any of the home china or silver.

All there is to washing the dishes or silver is to gather them up and touch a match to them. Then, too, you are assured that you will neither break or lose any of your home service, which would be well worth what it costs to use the paper service.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

John Zumpstein, native Clearfield Countian, who has followed lumbering and the woods all his life, and like all true woodsmen, has not only a keen eye in his head, but is a naturalist, keen observer and a homely, old-fashioned philosopher in his way. Zumpstein and his son George, a chip off the old block, went out into the mountains North of town yesterday to hunt for huckleberries. They went up the Penfield road to Pool Hollow. They followed the old Sinnemahoning road across to the edge of Kennedy Park Game Refuge and continued on down Tar Kill draft to Lick Run. During the course of their journey and up to this time they had seen eight deer, all of which were encountered in the trek down Tar Kill.

Deciding to try the "Big Ridge" between Lick and Stone Runs, the two men crossed Lick Run and began the ascent toward the top of the ridge. The land rises rapidly at this point and is very rocky. When about three hundred yards up the mountain from the creek they came across a wide helving rock which had a fringe of huckleberry bushes growing out of the leaf mold deposit of the passing years and overhanging the edge of the rock. John stooped down to pluck some of the berries, and in stooping over to reach a branch hanging near the ground he pressed his face near the fringe of bushes and old woodsmen that he is blanched the color of chalk as the threw himself backward just as a rattlesnake, which had been coiled under the rock, thrust its ugly muzzle toward him almost like a lightning flash. The snake's fangs were not two inches from Zumpstein's face as he threw his head back and his escape from death was just a matter of those two inches. The snake, which he says, was apparently four feet in length and of the yellow diamond back species remained where he was first seen until the younger Zumpstein struck at it with a staff he was carrying. He bit the snake but failed to give it its death blow as it managed to drag itself into its den under the rocks, and despite the fact that the old man prodded and dug around for half an hour after his terrible fright and narrow escape, they were unable to dislodge and kill it.

Now, here comes another angle to the tale, which we might hesitate to believe on John Zumpstein's unsupported word, knowing the old codger as we do, but the son George, who hasn't had experience enough yet to be anyways near as big a liar as his rap, corroborated the old man in every detail.

It is a well established fact that the female rattlesnake never travels more than a quarter of a mile from its den or home, into which it retires in August and brings forth its young. Mr. Zumpstein says that the snake never rattled as he approached its hiding place and that as his glance fell upon it almost at the instant it flashed out through the berry bushes at him, he also saw at least two or three dozen wee snakes not longer than good sized angle worms lying on the rock about the big snake and as they approached to attempt to kill the snake it was seen to open its mouth and the little ones swarmed between the wide open jaws so quickly that every last one was out of sight almost in an instant.

Zumpstein Sr. said in all his sixty years in the woods of Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, he had never seen the equal to such a sight and thought for an instant he might have been "seeing things", but he excitedly called his son's attention to the phenomenon, the latter told him he too had seen them, and he then knew he had actually witnessed what he had long been told but never believed, that the female rattler, when alarmed while raising her family, always opened her mouth and allowed her young to seek refuge from danger in her stomach.

That should have been experience enough for one day, but not having found enough huckleberries to warrant going after them the Zumpsteins continued to the top of and across the ridge and down into Stone Run at the Houdeshell place. Starting up over the ridge from the run they saw a magnificent bull elk in the clearing where Houdeshell had his garden when he lumbered there. The elk was big as a horse, and made no attempt to get out of the neighborhood until the men approached within fifty yards of him. After circling the ridge and finding but few huckleberries, the Zumpsteins crossed the flat over to the Gum Swamp draft and there near the abandoned oil well saw a deer John says was as white as any white cow he ever looked at.

All this happened within a dozen miles of Clearfield, which would cause one to think we are not very far from

National Advertisers Boost Your Town!

Home Merchants Sell
Quality Goods Only!

of other home institutions, which further reacts in hurting your own personal business.

The cost of branded, nationally-advertised products is uniform. Standard trade-marked articles sell for the same price the world over, so you can positively know that if the mail-order fleecers tell you that they have something just as good at a lesser price, they are "stringing" you and are garbling the truth.

"Buying at your home-town stores is not only good business judgement, but it makes for the future growth of the town and the happiness and well-being of all the people in the town. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, these stores are conducted by live, congenial, accommodating men who have your every interest thoroughly at heart. They are stocked to sell you, on your terms, everything from a needle to a portable house, at the lowest possible prices consistent with quality and their good names are linked up with those of the manufacturer in such a way that you are satisfied. What more perfect combination for the extending of a perfect service can be imagined?"

"This fine town can only recover its one-time prosperity if every last individual in it pulls together toward a common end. Retail merchants, newspapers, bankers, professional men, farmers, et al must band themselves together with a firm determination not to make a move or commit an act that will injure ANYONE in the community. The secret of the regeneration of this town lies in a steadfast adherence to the Golden Rule. Every towns-person should do unto every other towns-person as he would have done him if their positions were reversed. Residents of a town have an all-important duty to perform towards building up the town's business and this cannot be done if mail-order entities are enriched at the expense of the home-town merchants.

"Keep the home fires burning. Reform your ways at once. Don't buy anything out of town. If your home-town merchant hasn't what you want, he can get it for you in a day or two and there after he will be completely stocked on that article. If perchance your dealer has not been progressive enough to patronize the best manufacturers and profit by their national advertising, then it is your duty to make it plain to him why you will not buy his unmarked, unbranded and inferior goods. Thus he will soon see the error of his ways and will stock the kind of goods he knows he can sell.

"Come to your senses, good people. Reason it out for yourselves. No matter at what angle you approach the subject, you can't advance a single plausible reason why you should patronize the catalogue camouflagers. They are parasitic creatures who live at the expense of the inhabitants of small towns without contributing an iota to the town's welfare in return. They are shameless, heartless and cruel in their dealings with the helpless individual. They are without soul, conscience or pride. They are infamous monsters who have achieved some measure of success because they have found it possible to fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time.

"Let's all take a vow this every day we will never buy another penny's worth of goods from out of town. Let's take a further vow that we will learn from the best magazines and newspapers what the leading trade-marked and branded goods are and demand that our home-town merchants supply us with them and them only. Let's all vow that we will have nothing to do in a business or social way with anyone in our town who buys goods out of our community. We will shun and despise such as he because we know that he is contributing nothing to the community and is therefore not entitled to anything in return.

"And good people, remember that you are fortunate, indeed, in being privileged to live in God's own country, where health and a normal, sane life are yours. Remember that your town is one typical Paradise on Earth if each and every one of you will put your shoulder to the wheel and do even more than your share towards making your town what it should be. Always remember that stand and made goods carrying a registered trade-mark sell for the same price the world over, and that you cannot therefore save a sou by purchasing from any other than your own home-town merchant. Remember that it is your duty to boost your town at every turn—not only is it your duty but your privilege, because as the town grows and succeeds, so will you also prosper.

State Centre Fish And Forestry Association Making Rapid Strides

The sportsmen of Philipsburg and the Morris and Cooper section of Clearfield county some time ago organized what they style the State Centre Game, Fish and Forestry Association and have already enrolled several hundred members. The aim and object of the association is to propagate, protect and conserve the game, fish and forests of central Pennsylvania.

It is the hope of those interested in the movement to enlist all the hunters, fishermen and conservationists in Centre and Clearfield counties in this organization in order that they may further the aims of the association.

Plans to be able to enroll at least 5,000 men in their cause before the end of the year. To that end committees have been appointed in the different districts and a campaign for members will be inaugurated following a meeting to be held in Philipsburg on Friday evening, August 1st, at 8 o'clock at which the members of the committees named are expected to be present. The following Clearfield county men have been chosen to act in their communities by Membership Chairman W. N. Zeitler, of Philipsburg, and are asked to attend Friday night's meeting:

Odd Church Bells.

A curious story is told of the bells of Messingham church, England. It is said that a long time ago a traveler passing through Messingham noticed three men sitting on a stile in the churchyard and calling out, "Come to church, Thompson!" "Come to church, Brown!" "Come to church, Wilkins!" And so on. Greatly surprised, the traveler asked what it meant. He was told the place having no bells, they called the folk to church in this way. The traveler remarked that it was a pity that so fine a church should be without bells, and at the same time asked the men if they could make three for the church if he would pay for them himself. They readily agreed to do this. By trade the three men were a tinker, a carpenter and a shoemaker. When next the traveler passed that way he found the three men ringing three bells, which said "Ting, tonk, plunk," being made respectively of tin, wood and leather.

Traditions Lasting.

Tradition seems to have as powerful a hold upon the minds of the most highly civilized as well as the most barbarous peoples. For 500 years all rulers of Great Britain have been seated upon the traditional stone of Scone to be crowned. When Jacob, patriarch of Israel, had his vision of a ladder extending from earth to heaven with angels ascending and descending, he set up a cairn or monument in commemoration of the event, crowned it with a block of stone, which he had used as a pillow while he slept and the place was called Beth-el. A long train of traditions attaches to this stone.

DISEASED MINDS

Chicago's two bright young murderers, according to the defense, are not really responsible because they have "diseased minds".

That may be so. No human being can read those minds, any other minds, clearly enough to tell just where responsibility ends. As Whittier wrote:

"It is not ours to separate
The tangled skein of will and fate—
To show what metes and bounds may stand
Upon the soul's debatable land,
And between choice and Providence
Divide the circle of events."

Those boys' minds at present certainly appear diseased. They may be incapable now of exercising sound moral judgment. But the real question is how they reached such a state.

They may have been both born with a fatal lack of some kind, which kept their moral nature from developing as it does in normal children, strengthening with experience and practice. It seems more likely that their present defects of mind and conduct are really self-made.

If the will is free at all—if man is anything more than a mechanical toy played upon by some unseen power—life is an infinite series of choices. The person who starts early choosing to do what he knows is right will develop sound morals. The child who starts early deliberately avoiding the right choice, and preferring the thing that means momentary pleasure, gain, self-indulgence, instead of duty or justice or generosity, naturally loses little by little whatever moral insight and power of right choice he ever possessed.

Suppose, then, that those boys are now morally diseased and irresponsible, but as a result of killing their own moral sense through years of bad choice. Is there no penalty for that?

A THROTTLED PRESS

The Italian Fascist government, while letting up on some of its dictatorial methods since the recent uproar against it, has started a new course of coercion, this time against the press. Premier Mussolini says he finds it necessary to discipline papers that tend to excite opinion unduly, sowing the seeds of "edition".

"Naturally," he says, "the government's work for the country's pacification cannot go the length of allowing agitation against Fascism, to which Italy owes her recovery from the terrible post-war miasma."

That depends on the point of view. Before Mussolini seized supreme power by force, he would have regarded it as intolerable for any other party to criticize what he is doing. It is as a Republican administration in this country should forbid democratic newspapers from criticizing its acts, or a Democratic administration should do likewise with Republican newspapers.

We do not allow such tyranny in this country. No free country does. There is no greater safeguard for the public welfare, and no greater fundamental of human freedom, than a free press. Mussolini is making "Fascism" itself a "miasma", despite the good work it has done along some lines.

NOT A FREE SHOW

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Out of all the sordid horror of the oft repeated details of the Chicago murder, comes one tiny ray of sanity and right thinking.

Judge John R. Caverly, at least, will not allow the break down of all moral character in two degenerated boys to be the means of polluting the air with such horrors.

There will be no radio in his courtroom. Judge Caverly deserves the thanks of every sane person in the country. He will not make a free show of what should be a horror, from which every right-minded person should turn in weariness of spirit.

The vote of the radio fans on the matter was another hopeful sign. There's a good deal of morbid curiosity in the world. But cleanliness and sanity and right-thinking won out over morbid curiosity in the popular vote. More people voted "no" than those who voted "yes" but there are many people who find a vicarious sort of pleasure in beholding the evidences of disaster and crime.

It is right, of course, that justice should be done in the open. The court room of a country cannot be locked, for the course of justice offers no apology for its procedure. But the general tendency of the public to attend sordid trials out of mere curiosity is lamentable.

There is doubtless some excuse for men and women who attend them as a protest in a certain case, or who go to see that justice is done, or at least in order that they may find some method of protesting if they believe that justice has not been done.

That, at least, is a sincere procedure. But the court room crowded with idle curiosity seekers is a sorry comment upon our civilization.

Judge Caverly has uttered a protest against filling the air with testimony, some of which might be unfit for young ears and much of which may be unprofitable to the general public.

"I could send women and children out of my court room, if there should be testimony unfit for them to hear," he explained. "But I cannot tell some fourteen year old boy a thousand miles away to switch off his radio." In any event, it is evident that he believes that the rehearsal of so grave an offense should not be turned into a kind of horrid vaudeville for the whole world to hear.

Once in a while we are rejoiced to find, even in this rather jazy age, such evidences of sound sense and sanity, as lead us to believe that, as a people, we haven't quite taken leave of our senses after all.

Shoe-Lace Annoyances.
The tips on shoe laces are a real annoyance to women, both because they often come off, leaving a fringed end, and because when they are on and tucked in the top of the shoe they frequently tear the stockings. One ingenious girl has freed herself of all such trouble hereafter by removing the tips when the laces are new, and winding them for a half inch or so down with sewing silk, using a needle to fasten the end. Men who are annoyed with the tips coming off their laces can supply new tips by twisting the ends with sealing wax. If a shoe lace breaks do not tie it together, but lap the fringed ends and sew them together neatly, running the sewing thread up through the good part of the lace.

Language of Jars in China.
In some parts of China jars are placed on the roof of houses as matrimonial advertisements. A jar turned upside down means that the daughter of the house is too young to marry. A jar laid with its mouth to the street indicates that the maiden is of age. When the girl is married the jar is removed.

WHY THE DELAY?

TONIGHT'S GREAT CLOSING GATHERING

Of the Vacation Bible School in Trinity Church will have the attention of many homes in Clearfield. It cannot be otherwise, for children from the largest number of homes ever represented in such enrollment will participate. That means that those that design to get in, no matter what sitting they may secure, will have to come in good time. Turn out. Bring an offering for the picnic expenses.

But the exercises of themselves will prove attractive and very interesting. The spectacular will be a strong feature. The program is neither lengthy nor insipid.

The last word is now said about the picnic on Friday. Those that have charge have made the fullest and best arrangements for giving a good, full outing to the members of the school. They must be at the Presbyterian Church by 10 a. m. Friday, tomorrow, sure.

Uncle Eben.
"De world was made in six days," said Uncle Eben; "but de modern improvements on it takes thousands an' thousands of years."

Energy and Laziness.
What we call laziness in a healthy human being is something very different. It has nothing to do with the lack of energy or love of repose. On the contrary, observes the New York Independent, the boy most inattentive to his lessons is frequently the boy whose inexhaustible energy wears the life out of his parents and teachers. He hates the fifth reader, but he will forget supper to finish his paper bound copy of Dead Eye Dick, the King of the Outlaws. He hates to write compositions in class, but he finds it no labor to compose squibs satirizing his classmates for the school paper, though the tax on his ingenuity is as great in the latter case as in the former. He does not like drawing lessons, but he loves to draw, and grumbles about bringing in wood for supper, but he will carry forests to build a bonfire. He finds gymnasium work a bore, but he submits to more exacting discipline from his baseball coach than any teacher would dare to impose.

Plenty of Coal.
The United States geological survey estimates that our reserves of easily accessible anthracite and bituminous coal is more than 1,500 billion tons, while half as much again of the same grades can be made accessible with little difficulty, aside from comparable tonnages of subbituminous coal and lignite. These figures are exclusive of Alaska, which possesses, according to the recent report of the survey, 150 billion tons. This estimate of Alaska alone would permit for an output of 10,000 tons a day for more than forty thousand years. But the United States proper possesses a known quantity of coal deposits which gives her two-thirds of the world's store untouched.

REPARATION CONFAB SWINGS PERILOUSLY NEAR THE SHOALS

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
L. N. S. Staff Correspondent
London, July 31.—The allied reparation conference again swung perilously near the shoals of disaster today.

Committees number one and number three took up the French proposals for safeguarding the holders of German loan bonds while members of the interallied Reparation Commission met informally.

The Commissioners are here to sign an agreement with Germany, but Premier MacDonald does not want to summon the Germans to London until the Allies have agreed among themselves.

It was reported that Premier Herriot of France, is threatening to return home unless the French proposals are accepted. But it is generally believed if the proposals are rejected, both Colonel J. A. Logan, the American official observer, and Premier Theunis of Belgium, will be ready to step in with a new compromise to keep the conference alive.

The British object to the French attempt to keep deliveries in kind. They do not want the French to have latitude for amending the Dawes plan.

There was lively debate behind closed doors during the day.

A spokesman for the British delegation said that England must agree to the French proposals "which would be a great step forward."

Domestic Storm Warnings.

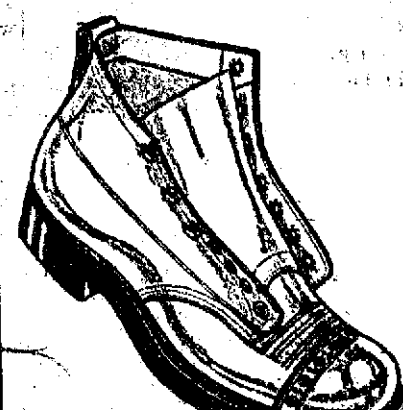

The following pleasant recipe for being happy, though married, was given by an old village woman to her daughter, who was married recently: "Do as your father and I did, my dear. Whenever he came home feeling contrary, he wore his hat on the back of his head, and that were a sign. And then I never said a word. And whenever I felt cross or crooked, I threw my shawl over my left shoulder, and then he never dared say a word."

PENNSY-GRAMS

Pittsburgh.—Henry Jackson, 26, will be asked to explain in court today why he is alleged to have broken into the home of Mrs. E. Janderson, a neighbor, while she was away and according to Mrs. Janderson carried away her piano in a wagon, yesterday. Police were informed and Jackson was lodged in jail last night on a suspicious person charge.

Kittanning.—School children who have been vaccinated and it failed to "take" will be re-vaccinated according to health officials, Dr. Charles J. Hinner, secretary of State Department of Health, has appointed five county physicians as official deputies to do the work according to a notification received by Dr. T. N. McKee, county medical director.

New Castle.—The annual Welsh reunion at Cascade Park near here next Saturday will be attended by a large number of Welsh people from all parts of Western Pennsylvania. Edwin Lewis and Miss Edna Setzer have been named accompanists to the reunion.

Pittsburgh.—La Follette supporters from six or seven counties in southwestern Pennsylvania will meet here August 10 to complete an organization to aid the progressive presidential nominee. Last night the committee met and made all preliminary arrangements.

Pittsburgh.—Miss Mary Harper, 18, a recent high school graduate, died early today at the Southside hospital, where she was stricken late yesterday suffering from burns almost over her entire body. The girl was cleaning a dress with gasoline which caught fire. She was soon a mass of flames. Her brother attempted to beat out the flames and was painfully burned.

Philadelphia.—Dealers in fruit and produce here estimate their losses in thousands of dollars as a result of the temporary ban placed on all shipments going to points outside the Japanese beetle quarantine belt. The ban may be lifted in a few days, officials say.

Philadelphia.—Joseph Sharp, 63 year old peddler, is dying here from injuries received when he was attacked and beaten by a gang of young men who resented his driving close to the curb where they were sitting.

Philadelphia.—Too close an acquaintance with Shakespeare caused the arrest of Roy Kennedy and Adam Garvin here, charged by police with attempting to take a "Shylock" forfeit from their pal, Walter O'Brien. Police say the pair demanded a pint of O'Brien's blood after he refused to buy a pint of liquor.

Philadelphia.—Sixteen year old John Giba died at St. Luke's Hospital here as a result of being stabbed accidentally by his 14-year old sister, Mary, with a pair of scissors. The boy was thought nearly recovered from the accident which occurred last Saturday. The girl is held at the House of Detention.

Philadelphia.—Nearly a score were overcome yesterday when the mercury reached the highest point this summer. Six girls working in a cigar factory were among the victims.

Manners Exposed.
A sure sign of ill manners is to talk loud. If you are in a habit when you go into a store of talking in such a loud voice the janitor or the cashier hears you, quit it. All ill-bred people talk so loud that they drown everyone in the room.—Arkansas Thomas Cit.

Mystery In Shooting Editor Of Masonic Chronicle Of Chicago

Chicago, July 30 (INS).—No clue which might serve to penetrate the mystery surrounding the shooting of Harry Peters, advertising manager of the Masonic Chronicle, and nationally known in Masonic circles, had been found by police today, five hours after he had been found dying from a revolver bullet within a few hundred feet of his home here.

Investigators had established, however, that robbery was not the motive since, they say, a considerable sum, watch, ring and other jewelry was found on the body. The weapon had not been found.

Peters was shot after leaving the home of his wife's mother, where he had been visiting during his wife's absence in Milwaukee. On her return yesterday she called her mother by telephone and talked to Peters. He told her he was leaving immediately for home. A short time later she heard a shot, half drowned by the crashing of thunder in a storm which was sweeping the city. She ran out and found her husband dead.

Animal Mimicry.
Observers of nature are frequently struck with the singular resemblances of insects to leaves, dried sticks and so forth, and these likenesses are supposed to have grown out of the necessity of protection against or concealment from enemies. An interesting example of this kind of resemblance was recently cited by a government naturalist, who exhibited a spider found inhabiting some rocks near Cannes, on which were also fastened the eggs of a species of moth. When at rest the spider exhibited almost precisely the same form and color as the moth cases surrounding it.—Exchange.

Abstract.
The meaning of the noun abstract, in its most common use is that which embraces or embodies the essential parts or features of some larger object or whole; a summary or epitome, as of a book or document. The term of law, an abstract of title, means a document containing a brief and orderly statement of the original grant and subsequent conveyances and encumbrances relating to the title and ownership of real estate.

Employment.
Nothing ties a foreign-born workman to a town or a job as much as a house to live in and a truck patch to work. It is a wholly American illusion that the foreign-born love shacks and barracks and boarders. Many of them buy lots at the first opportunity, but they have not the money to build houses except on really easy terms.—Ester Everett Lane.

Long Lapse of Memory.
One of the most famous examples of official oversight occurred in connection with Drury Lane theater, where for nearly two centuries soldiers stood on guard outside during each performance. Many thought the guard was there in recognition of Drury Lane as the theater royal, but the real fact was that it was sent there originally by George II. to prevent a threatened riot. The order not being countermanded, the guard was continued until 1893.—London Times.

FIGHTER LIKS HIMSELF

A down town battler who got himself too full of moonshine for his sense of either distance or judgment got into some kind of an altercation down near the Pennsylvania station some time after midnight last night. He swung at his adversary but missed, his first crashing through a window glass. A badly slashed fist and arm was the result, while the services of both a doctor and policeman were required to fix the fellow up and make the wild swinging battler comfortable for the night.

He settled with the Mayor this morning for his accommodations and will be hors du combat for several days as the result of his self inflicted injuries.

Baldheads Rejoice!
Successful experiments have been made to a new method for planting hair upon bald heads. It has been found that baldness never affects certain parts of the back of the head. Long thin strips of hair-covered skin cut from these parts may be grafted upon the bald area to form furrows. These fertile parts, when brushed, entirely cover the bald lines.—Brooklyn Eagle.

One's Duty to Preserve Health.
Health is not a personal matter, but the responsibility for keeping well is in large part personal. The man who is determined to keep well for the sake of his own welfare must not put the burden of responsibility upon public health agencies. He must attend to it himself, and helped by such agencies as are available. There is nothing selfish in keeping oneself physically fit. It is a form of altruism.

How to Feed.
A fly cannot eat solids, but must first extract a drop of salivary liquid to dissolve the sugar or other substances it may desire to eat. This salivary liquid passes out through the split tubes and is drawn back through them with the food in solution. At the base of the pad near where it joins the upright stem are several rows of horny teeth. These teeth scratch up the particles of a solid like sugar, and the saliva exuded through the tongue dissolves them, and the sweetened liquid is drawn back.

Foundation of All Good.
All good government must begin at home. It is useless to make good laws for bad people; what is wanted is this, to subdue the tyranny of the human heart.—Hugh R. Havelis.

Curwensville's Own Column

Rev. Max Lantz, of Altoona, was a Curwensville visitor yesterday. He was a former pastor of the M. E. Church here for several years, and the members of his former congregation are always pleased to welcome him when he makes the old town a call.

The Herald has changed its form from a seven column, four-page paper to an eight-page, six-column. Whether the change will be appreciated by the paper's patrons remains to be determined.

C. E. Dornan, who occupied a portion of the John Patton estate home on West State street, has removed his family to a dwelling on George street.

Orlie Norris and family, Prof. Grant Norris and family and some others spent the last three days of the present week out at the famous Greenwood camp on the mountains.

The Progress scout is somewhat handicapped this week in the line of news as he is nursing an affliction. He is not telling how he received the wound, either; someone else can have that pleasure.

The heavy showers yesterday afternoon did not mar the interest or the number who attended the Bible study convention at the Park in the evening, as the large building was comfortably crowded. Arrangements are being consummated to make this convention a regular yearly gathering in Curwensville, as the present one, and the first of the kind to be held in this section, has proved such a success.

For some years a Knights of the Golden Eagle organization flourished in Curwensville and had at one time over one hundred members. The news gathered yesterday, incidentally, that it was more likely that the Eagles would be reconstructed and another lodge built up.

Frank Dale and family motored over from their home in Altoona Tuesday and spent several days with relatives. He spoke as though business prospects were not of the brightest over there, and that the railroad shops were doing but little.

Some years ago it was no novelty to see half a hundred vehicles burdened with huge stacks of bark on their way to the tanneries. Now when one or two loads pass down State street it is curious to watch the number of folks who will drop whatever they are engaged at and watch the bark wagon from one end of the street to the other.

Greatest Speed Test In History To Be Run At Altoona Labor Day

Altoona, Pa., July 29.—The greatest speed test in the history of automobile racing is forecast for the 250-mile championship classic on the Altoona speedway Labor Day, September 1. For the first time on any track, pilots have already started timing their motors on the great oval, six weeks before race day. Even in preparation for the grueling 500-mile endurance race at Indianapolis, drivers seldom began practice more than four weeks prior to the event.

Bob McDonogh, young protégé of Tommy Milton, who startled the racing world here on June 14 at the first of the season's two contests, by finishing fourth in his maiden race on the fast board ovals, arrived in Altoona today with his mechanician ready to begin tuning on the mile-and-a-quarter bowl. His car and that of Milton, both completely rebuilt since the Fourth of July classic at Kansas City, will arrive here by fast freight from the Pacific coast early next week, and will be immediately placed on the track.

Special precautions have been taken by the speedway management to protect the drivers in their unusually early practice because of the great amount of improvement work in progress at the huge plant to prepare it for the Labor Day race. Corps of workmen have undermined one end of the racing deck to construct a second large automobile tunnel that patrons coming by motor may have greater facilities for getting away after the winner has been given the checkered flag.

Indicating the increased interest in automobile racing throughout the eastern part of the country, all precedents for advance ticket sales were broken when the seats for the Labor Day championship were placed on sale this week. More than two thousand mail orders had been received for reserved seats ready to be filled when the ticket racks were opened. Requests are pouring in from all parts of the country, and a record breaking crowd is anticipated.

Canon Chase Chasing Mr. Firpo Hard; Will Carry Demand To Mr. Coolidge

Washington, July 31 (INS).—Deportation of Angel Luis Firpo, South American prize fighter, was urged upon the Department of Labor today by Canon Chase of New York.

Chase told officials of the Immigration service that Firpo's relations with Blanca Lourdes, a South American girl who came on the ship with him from Buenos Aires, was sufficient reason for deportation and said that he intended to carry to President Coolidge his demand for sending Firpo home.

Few Sea Otters Remain.
Sea otters are courageous and playful. They will lie on their backs in the ocean and toss help for hours, taking great pleasure in catching it. Some say that the mother often sleeps on her back with the puppy held between her fore feet. She will never desert her young, and she keeps them at her side for more than a year. The skins are a rich bistre brown sprinkled over with glistering silver hairs. There is one of them up at the American Museum of Natural History. They are today, as a rule, only for museums.

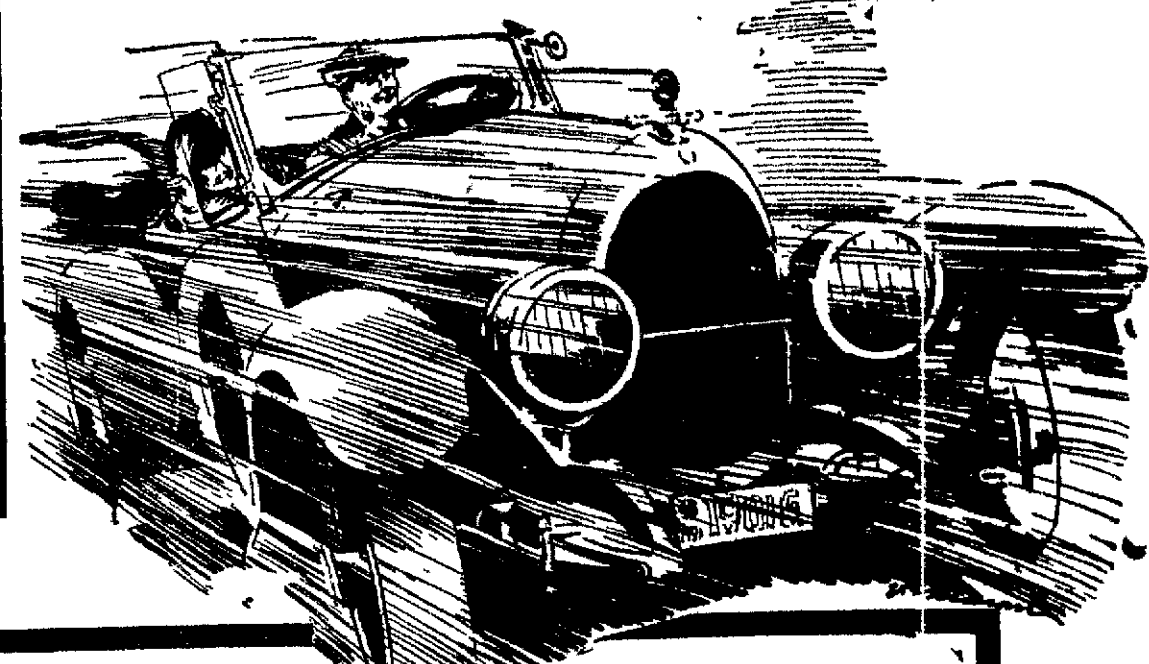

Timely Apology.
Few things do more to lubricate the wheels of existence than the timely and kindly apology, and few things are more tiresome and irritating than the apology that is an insinuation and unnecessary. Well-bred persons are always ready with a word or two to say "I beg your pardon" and they feel not the slightest humiliation in making it a sort of apology. It is a remark that may be applied freely to perfect strangers as well as to close friends.

Australian "Butt-Reverer."
The bull-nose, used by the aborigines of Australia in religious ceremonies, is a sort of wood attached to a thong. It gives out a loud growling or "mooing" noise when whirled, and this is alleged to be the voice of a spirit.

QUICK-ACTING, HARD-HITTING—two-fisted gasoline! That's Atlantic!

Whether sport-loving motorist or efficiency-seeking truck owner, Atlantic gives you everything a motor fuel should have. For Atlantic is made right to begin with.

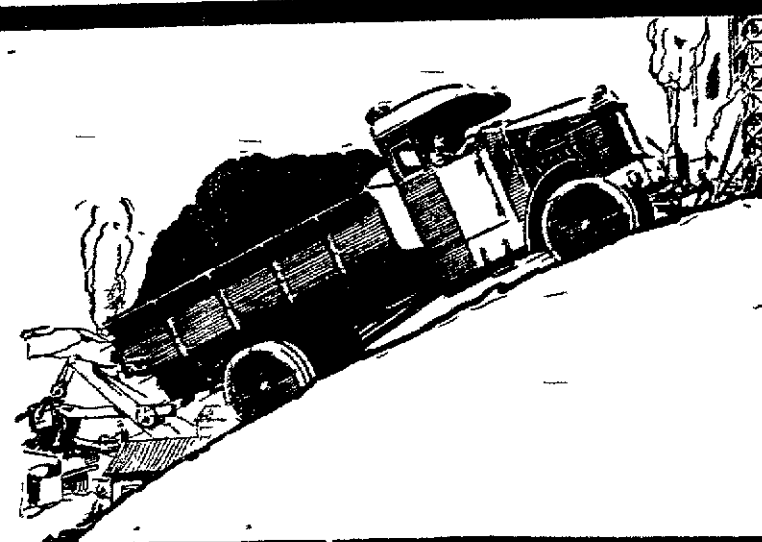

In itself it combines all the elements for action and power a motor fuel needs for maximum efficiency. And that efficiency is sustained efficiency. Some motor fuels perform well under certain favorable conditions, but Atlantic is efficient always. Atlantic is balanced gasoline. No matter what the speed, the load or the temperature, Atlantic ignites with certainty and burns completely—every particle translates into live, wheel-turning energy.

Prove it yourself! Note that Atlantic needs no coaxing when starting the motor. It wants no urging at the get-away. It asks no frequent gear-shifting help on the hills. And when you're going fast, the peppery "zing" will tell you that Atlantic has the quickness to keep up with the highest speed gasoline motor ever built.

JORDAN'S

Bordered Silk

HERE is an excellent example of how effectively bordered silk may be used. The printed design in black on the white gown affords all the trimming necessary, save the straps that break the plainness of the front. In buying a bordered material it is well to select one such as this with a design that may be cut for bandings and trimmings if necessary, as it allows greater latitude in the choice of a style. The sleeves are most attractive and are decidedly different from the average run.

To Remove Grit From Eye.

Small foreign bodies which are not imbedded in the eyeball may often be removed by going into a dark room, looking up toward the lighting fixture, then turning the light on quickly, writes a correspondent. If the light is strong enough, it will cause a violent reaction which will cause the particle to be washed to the corner of the eye. It is then easily removed by means of a clean handkerchief.

Dangerous Liquids.

Gasoline, ether and benzine could not be kept on shelves in a cabinet in the house, the national board of fire underwriters says in a recent article. It is exceedingly dangerous, as either gasoline or benzine gives off at ordinary temperature inflammable vapor. Through these vapors, a light at a distance may ignite the liquid. If there is a small leak in the container in which any of the liquids are kept, sufficient vapor may form to cause a violent explosion. With ether the danger is even greater than with gasoline or benzine.

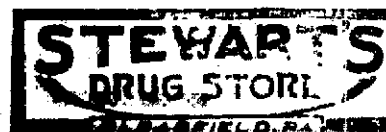

Joss Sticks.

Until recently the composition of the candles known as joss sticks was unknown to most people. A stem of bamboo is rolled in a substance consisting of fourteen different odorous drugs. One of these protects the candles from rats and mice. The camphor used in the manufacture causes the joss sticks to burn steadily.

WEATHER PREVENTS EARLY JUMP-OFF FOR ICY ICELAND

On board United States Cruiser, Richmond, Houton Bay, off Scotland, July 31 (via radio to International News Service)—The flight of the United States army round the world aviators from the Orkney Islands to Iceland was postponed today on account of heavy fog. The flyers hope to take off tomorrow morning if weather conditions are favorable.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
On Board U. S. S. Cruiser Richmond, Houton Bay, off Scotland, July 31. (Via Radio.)—A thick, low-hanging fog delayed the departure of the United States army round the world flyers from Kirkwall for Iceland today.

Lieut. Lowell M. Smith, American flight commander, and his five companions, who arrived from Brough, England at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had a nice night's rest and were up early scanning the horizon and awaiting word from the American patrol ships regarding weather conditions between Scotland and Iceland.

Before the sun rose above the horizon of the sea the Americans were tinkering with their planes, seeing that everything was in readiness for the hop off over the north Atlantic.

The distance from Kirkwall to Houton Bay, Iceland, is about 500 miles. Two United States destroyers, the Reid and Billingsley, are stationed between this port and the Iceland coast. Two stops are to be made at Iceland. The cruiser Richmond, flagship of the guard fleet, with Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder on board, will follow the flyers from Houton Bay.

Reports from Iceland said that fog was general in that district and that it would be dangerous to try to find the coast.

GOES TO GLASSBORO, N. J.

The final dismantling of the old post-office in the Ross & Woods building took place today when carpenters from Glassboro, New Jersey, arrived in town and proceeded at once to rip out old fixtures and equipment and load the same on a truck to ship to the New Jersey town.

The Glassboro postmaster purchased the office equipment from Ross & Woods last week.

We shiver for the fate of the ten commandments when some of those "Jersey skeeters" tackle the combinations on those boxes we are so pleased to see leave town.

Basle, July 31—Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator who is attempting a round the world flight, passed here at 9:15 o'clock enroute for Strassbourg from Geneva.

YE OLD TYME MUGGE IS GONE FOR ALL TYME

Boys of this town no longer look forward to the time when a fancy colored, gold lettered, beautifully (?) designed shaving cup, bearing their names can be added to the long line gracing the barber's shelf. Men no longer point with pride to their cup bearing the tools of their trade, strangers may no longer learn the names of the business men by looking over the shelf, for the time-honored row is disappearing, slowly but surely.

Two reasons are given for the disappearance of the alleged works of art—first: They were unsanitary, because when used only once or twice a week, they were wonderful germ and disease carriers. Second, the pictures, pretty, but sometimes risqué, offend the women who have invaded the former sanctumsanctorum of the male species.

Now, no individual articles grace the shop. Shelves which formerly held the cups are laden with face lotions, curling irons, tonics guaranteed to produce a permanent wave, (good for ten hours), pictures of famous women, showing their modes of bobbing, etc.

Mayhap, the barbers say, the day will soon come when the cups will be replaced by beautifully decorated individual curling irons. Maybe, vanity cases bearing the names, in gold letters, of women patrons will fill the shelves.

However, until that time comes, the "objects of beauty" are passe, in what has been aptly termed, "The Barber Shoppe".

STATE'S ATTORNEYS VIGOROUSLY OPPOSE ALIENIST TESTIMONY

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
Criminal Court Building, Chicago, July 31.—The legal battle over whether alienists are to be permitted to testify that Nathan Leopold, Jr., and "Dicky" Loeb are afflicted with "functional mental diseases," even though not insane, waxed hotter and hotter in Judge John R. Caverly's court today, where the blithe young collegians are on trial for their lives for the kidnapping and slaying of little Bobby Franks.

Several times Judge Caverly indicated that he was tired of the argument, and that he was not going to change his decision that the psychiatrists should be allowed to give their testimony "for what it is worth," but the state's attorneys continued, doggedly and persistently, to prove to him by precedents and authorities that his decision was wrong and unprecedented.

The state continued to accuse the defense of seeking to set up a defense of insanity under long-winded scientific names.

"Depravity of character and abandoned habits are not evidence of insanity," read Assistant State's Attorney Marshall from a huge volume of Illinois Supreme Court decisions.

"Even so," broke in Judge Caverly, "is that any reason why the court should not hear evidence of depravity of character and abandoned habits?"

But evidence of depravity and the boys' mental condition, the courts went on, certainly constituted admissible evidence and he expressed the opinion that to exclude it would be tantamount to committing a reversible error, which might throw the case back from the Supreme Court.

"How are you going to prove depravity and habits by these so-called experts?" demanded State's Attorney Crowe.

"It is perfectly apparent the defense is not calling these alienists to prove depravity. They are going to testify to a lot of hearsay, conversations, etc., on which they have constructed theories as to their mental condition and their responsibility for this crime."

Judge Caverly placidly recited that it was entirely problematical anyway what the effect the testimony of the scientists would have in forming his decision.

"I may strike it all out," he said, "or none at all, or part of it. But I cannot tell whether it is admissible evidence until I know what it is."

Clarence Darrow, the resourceful chief of the defense, broke in, and said to Crowe:

"When you were a judge on the bench, Mr. Crowe, did you not hear evidence of insanity in a plea of guilty to first degree murder?"

"How about the alienists who testified in the Fitzgerald case?" returned Darrow.

"He merely testified that the man was a burglar," retorted Crowe, "but Fitzgerald was sentenced to hang and was hanged too."

"That's because you sentenced him," said Darrow, smiling, and the court-room broke into laughter, in which both Leopold and Loeb joined.

Judge Caverly wearily reminded the State's Attorney that they had the privilege of putting on rebuttal alienists after they have seen what the defense alienists say. Crowe said that was not the point at all—that the only point was that the common law in this state demanded a jury to hear any evidence on sanity or insanity.

"They wrangled and wrangled, going over the same ground they went over yesterday," Darrow and Crowe shouted at each other.

Judge Caverly finally stopped it. "Oh, oh on with your argument," he said to the state's attorneys, and Marshall then resumed the reading of the law books and decisions from many courts in many states.

SERIOUS OUTBREAK AT KLAN MEETING IN MASSACHUSETTS

Haverhill, Mass., July 31 (INS).—Five men are known to have suffered gun shot wounds in two new out breaks of violence between members of the Ku Klux Klan and anti-klanmen here and at Groveland early today. Numerous other participants in the mob warfare were injured by stones and clubs.

Three of the men shot were found to be so seriously injured that they were operated upon immediately at the Gale hospital.

Members of the State Constabulary sheriffs and deputies and local police, are attempting to prevent a further outbreak.

The gathering was said to be the largest Klan gathering in the history of the state. About 5000 members assembled on the farm of Clarence Hardy at Groveland. It was not until the klanmen crossed the Merrimac river at Haverhill, that serious violence occurred. Three members of the Klan opened fire with rifles and revolvers on their heeklers, who retaliated with rocks and clubs.

The five men suffering from gun shot wounds all claim to be opponents of the hooded order.

Police made a score of arrests. All taken in custody, they say, are klan men.

The three men taken to the Gale Hospital, are Edward Lucey, Frank Cotton and James Connolly, all of Haverhill. They are technically under arrest. They claim they were riding in the machine of James Culbert of Haverhill, when a truck owned by M. O. Lane of the same city, loaded with klanmen passed and opened fire. Police say the three alleged they were unarmed.

Lucey and six of his companions, all Haverhill men, were arrested and charged with disturbing the peace. A small arsenal was taken from the truck.

Sixteen shot guns, several revolvers, a large quantity of ammunition iron bars, lead pipes, black jacks and clubs were taken from the scene of more of alleged klanmen arrested.

According to the police there was an open display of arms by the klanmen as they left the meeting place. Many shots were fired and the air was filled with flying missiles. Countless windshields were broken and other damage inflicted on the automobiles.

A squad with brooms marched ahead of the klan cars, sweeping the roadway clear of nails and glass.

Twenty arrests have been made.

Rotarians Get Another Night Of Advice On Taking Care Of Boys

An inspiring talk on "The Boy and Boys Work" was given the members of the Clearfield Rotary Club at its regular week-long meeting at the Jordan last evening. The speaker was Theodore Jackson, who has been engaged nationally in boys work, under the auspices of Community Service, for years, and knows his subject from every angle and close personal contact and experience. Mr. Jackson was brought here by the Boys Work Committee and his visit and talk was certainly worth while.

During the progress of the meeting a rising vote of thanks was tendered Callahan and Leavy for last week's beef steak dinner at Goheen and Louis Shapiro was given similar recognition for presenting the Club with a beautiful gong for use of the President.

Rotarian John F. Short, local delegate to that recent famous New York Democratic convention, was asked for a little "inside slant" on that remarkable gathering and gave a highly interesting fifteen minute description of the gathering, together with a number of personal experiences that were well worth telling. As was to be expected the delegate boosted both the convention and its candidates, declaring the outcome was a tribute to the earnestness, intelligence and judgment of the delegates en masse and simply goes to show what the unbridled, unbossed, untrammeled and untutored Democracy can accomplish when they sit down to reason with one another.

Rotarian guests present were Messrs. Johnson and Kenney, of DuBois, and Captain May of Beaver Falls, Pa. Mr. Zacharias, of Cleveland, was also a guest of his friend John Hess.

EARLY ARRIVALS AT COMMENCEMENT ARE SURE TO GET A SEAT

The committee in charge of the transportation for the kiddies of the Daily Vacation Bible School picnic at the Pee Wee's Nest will need about 50 cars to report at the Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning between 9:30 and 10 o'clock.

The more cars that report the less work it will be for everyone and it is desired that the transportation committee be able to have enough cars so that each car will have to make but one trip.

Haverhill, Mass., July 31 (INS).—A heavy guard was on duty when 21 participants in the Ku Klux Klan rioting went on trial today before Judge Winn in District Court. The other three men arrested are at the Gale hospital under treatment for gunshot wounds inflicted with shot-guns loaded with rock salt.

When Judge Winn asked who represented the 21 prisoners, John R. Boston, of Ohio, the Klan organizer, who hired the field which was the scene of last night's rioting, stepped forward, smoking a cigar. The court ordered him from the room to dispose of the cigar. The defendants had failed to secure the services of City Solicitor Frederick Magison, although ex-City Solicitor A. F. Priest did join the Klan's legal force.

Over four hundred of the cream of the youth of Clearfield are ready to demonstrate this evening to their parents and friends their knowledge of the fundamentals of the Christian religion as recorded in the Holy Bible and as taught by the excellent corps of volunteer instructors presiding over the Vacation Bible School.

Promptly at 7:15 o'clock the doors of Trinity will swing open to receive the guests of the little folks and those larger folks who have contributed so much to the success of this laudable summer work in the name of the Master. It will not be an ordinary child's recital but there are some numbers on prizes.

Tomorrow the school will come to a close with a big picnic at the park. The weather man has promised to be good and we believe he will keep his word. Cars will report at the Presbyterian Church at 9:30, no later, to transport the kiddies to the big time. Lend a hand. After seeing the performance this evening you will want to.

DAVIS BACK FROM THE TALL STICKS READY FOR FRAY

By DAVID SENTNER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)
New York, July 31.—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, arrived at Grand Central station at 10:15 this morning from the Maine woods, where he had spent an enjoyable two weeks holiday vacation and prepared the preliminary draft of his speech of acceptance.

The candidate said he "felt fine" and he looked much better than when he left. He posed for photographers and was immediately whisked to the Murray Hill hotel, where he planned to confer with his political advisers.

Arrest Suspects In Alleged K.K.K. Slaying In West Virginia Town

St. Louis, Mo., July 31. (INS).—Charges that the Ku Klux Klan had avenged a wrong done them, and spirited them out of West Virginia until "things blew over" were made here today by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Brown, of Fairmount, W. Va., who are in police custody here following receipt of information from West Virginia authorities that the pair are wanted at Fairmount in connection with the shooting there of Sam Washington, a negro cook, who is alleged to have insulted Mrs. Brown.

BRADFORD MAN IS SHOT DEAD AS HE RIDES THRU STREET

Bradford, Pa., July 31 (INS).—Tony Gero is being held here by authorities today in connection with the killing of George Kelly, 40, of this city who was shot through the head and instantly killed early today when Kelly and three other men in an automobile stopped on one of the main streets of Bradford. A man ran up to the machine and shot Kelly.

Joseph W. Snyder of Degolia when taken to the jail identified Gero as the slayer, according to police.

The motive of the crime is said to have been revenge.

Rail Workers Are Held In Wreck Which Killed One And Injured Four

New York, July 31. (INS).—Two employees of the Long Island railroad were arrested today in connection with the wreck in the Sunny Side yards, Long Island City, late yesterday in which one person was killed and four injured. They are James J. Moor, locomotive helper, Rahway, N. J., and Alfred C. Hunt, a tower man. Moor, it is claimed, caused two cars of a ten-car train to be derailed when he threw a switch before the train had completely passed. The cars were overturned.

Miss Walburta Buck, 30, of Flushing, died an hour after the wreck. One of the cars was demolished when it crashed into an electric locomotive on another track. Passengers were pinned underneath seats and cut by flying glass as the car overturned. Many had to be pulled from the wreckage.

Hunt, the towerman, was arrested with Moor on a technical charge of homicide. It is alleged Hunt controlled the switch from the signal tower.

SUIT TO TEST ROAD BOND ISSUE FILED

Harrisburg, July 31. (INS).—A suit to test the constitutionality of Pennsylvania's $50,000,000 road bond issue was filed today in the Dauphin county court.

Charles Hollinger, a member of the state retirement system, filed a suit in equity asking that the retirement board be restrained from purchasing $25,000 worth of the bonds for which it bid, on the ground that the enabling act is not legal for it does not specify the purpose for which the money is intended.

He claims that he is doing this to protect his own and the interests of the other members of the system because their money is jeopardized by being tied up in the bonds inasmuch as the act is illegal.

It is now up to the attorney general to defend the constitutionality of the act, and through the court proceedings it is hoped to get an opinion from the state supreme court in the fall.

Elijah Goodyear, the coal baron, and not the prophet whose name he bears, was a Clearfield visitor today.

CHESTS OUT, MEN, WE LICKED 'EM TO A FRAZZLE; CLEARFIELD GOLFERS TAKE DUBOIS SLICERS INTO CAMP

The golf team of the Clearfield-Curtisville Country Club is going about this morning collectively sticking out its 29 manly bosoms. The reason for this "pouter-pigeon" effect on our athletic friends is occasioned by the fact that they have found somebody they can lick. They discovered this "somebody" yesterday when they neatly trimmed DuBois on the local Country Club grounds. We are too modest to go further in recounting the deeds of valor of the home boys. We will let DuBois do it. Here is what this morning's Courier has to say about it: The golf players from the local Country Club went to the Clearfield club yesterday afternoon with the intention of annexing a victory at the expense of the county seat players, but after a strenuous afternoon of play the 28 players were forced to bow to defeat by a score of 17 to 12. The play for the most part took place in a driving rainstorm, making low scores few and far between.

Madera Merchants Form Chamber Of Commerce; Jos. A. Shoff Is President

The merchants and business men of Madera, at a meeting held last Monday afternoon in Liberty Hall, organized a local Chamber of Commerce.

The men say the necessity of effecting an organization for better efficiency in advertising the merits of Madera through periodic combined sales, etc. An effort will also be made to attract industries to the town. Also through such an organization it will be possible to stimulate retail trade, and the merchants can help to protect each other against losses from bad accounts.

Joseph A. Shoff was elected president of the Chamber for the ensuing six months, William McMurray, treasurer, and Martin McCamley, Charles Haines, Aaron Baron, Jacob Smith and Dr. J. M. Corley members of the Advisory Board. The secretary will be elected at a meeting of the Chamber next Monday evening, August 4, in the lobby of the Liberty Inn.

It is planned to hold a dinner in the near future, at which the program of the Chamber will be aggressively inaugurated.

4 U. S. ARMY PLANES SWOOP ON GRETTA TO WATCH DRILLING

Mt. Gretna, Pa., July 31 (INS).—The droning of airplane motors far overhead, mingled with the creaking of leather trappings, as the 1500 cavalrymen of the 52nd Cavalry brigade went through the formations given in the time honored drill book, and added a few flourishes of their own.

Four of the giant birds from the United States air depot at Minneola, swooped down on the camp shortly before the drill started, and remained for several hours, watching the marching and counter marching of the khaki clad riders. The aviators spent the entire morning tracing the courses of the two cavalry regiments—the 103rd and 104th—through the tangled underbrush and thickets about the camp.

Today, war-grim ghastly war, will be waged, the battle will continue for the rest of the week. Yesterday's maneuvering were in preparation for the "war" in which the two outfits will chase, and run from each other, zalloping through the woods, trotting over the green valleys, and mayhap often leading their horses slowly up a pass towards the top of one of the many mountains surrounding the camp.

The aviators again reached the camp at the "ze-o hour" this morning and watched the start of the battle.

By H. K. Reynolds
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Washington, July 31.—Smarting under the threat of the breaking of diplomatic relations because of the killing of Robert Imbrie, American vice consul at Tehran, the Persian government informed the United States today in a formal note that extreme and vigorous efforts were being made to pursue and punish the slayers of the American diplomat.

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE

New York, July 31 (INS).—Harry Mack, 35, stock broker, accidentally killed himself here today in his apartment on West 58th street in the presence of his fiancée, Peggy Cook of Philadelphia. Mack was giving a party to celebrate the girl's arrival here for a vacation.

Mack had pressed a revolver to his temple to show her that it wouldn't discharge, the girl told police. He died instantly. A moment before he had pulled the trigger against her forehead to quicken her fears that the gun was loaded, she said.

Japan's Tribute to MacLaren

Major Stuart MacLaren (left), commander of the British 'round-the-world' flight, was handed this bouquet at the celebration staged in his honor upon his arrival in Tokyo. The presentation was made by the 15-year-old daughter of Seifu Karuchi, director of the Japan Imperial Aviation Society. Flight Officer W. N. Plenderleith, who flew from London to Japan with MacLaren in the Vicker-Vulture, is seen in the center.

REEDSVILLE AGAIN VICTORIOUS

The West Side girls lost on their own court last evening to the Reedsville team in the Playground Volley Ball League, 8-15 and 6-15. While the West Siders fought hard their morale was somewhat shattered by the spectators at times, which helped in their downfall. They have material for one of the best teams in the league if properly developed and time will probably see them forging toward the top. Capt. Eva Mitchell did all she could in encouraging her teammates. The Reedsville machine put up their usual type of game with Betty Walker doing her accustomed stunt of getting the ball to ten points on her service. The remainder of the team divided up the 10-3. Their team lead the league with four wins and no losses. The lineups follow:

West Side: Eva Mitchell, captain; Eleanor Bauman, Evelyn Dougherty,

Lenore Dougherty, Helen Myers, Anna-bell Walthers. Reedsville: Mary Walker, captain; Betty Walker, Nellie McCoy, Ruth Bloom, Mable Bloom, Emelie Bain, Margaret Lynn.

Sick Room Hint.

When patient's mouth becomes dry and parched during the night, a piece of orange held in the mouth from time to time will quench thirst. The orange should be cut into small pieces and put within easy reach of the invalid. It will be easier to handle than a glass of water and is more refreshing.

True Fortitude.

True fortitude I take to be the quiet possession of a man's self, and an undisturbed doing of his duty, whatever evil begets or danger lies in the way. Locke.

Harrisburg And Utica Have Learned Lesson; Paid Baseball A Loss

Harrisburg, Pa., July 31, (INS.)—The fate of Harrisburg's baseball team in the New York-Pennsylvania league hangs on the number of fans at today's game with Scranton, according to Mercer B. Tate, chairman of a booster committee that is fighting to save the team.

"If the crowd today is slim, it means Harrisburg isn't interested in league baseball," declared Tate.

Because of the small crowds that have been witnessing league games, the finances of this city's club have been very low all season and it was decided to put the issue up to the fans.

If Harrisburg abandons there will be but six teams in the league, as Utica announced yesterday that they will withdraw because of heavy financial setbacks.

STOCKHOLDERS ENTERTAIN

Weather Aids Wireless.

A curious thing about wireless telegraphy is the way it is affected by sunrise and sunset. Transatlantic signals during the day are invariably clear, but those received at sunrise and sunset are said to be barely distinguishable.

Intricate Piece of Machinery.

A watch is comparatively a simple machine, containing an average of about 150 distinct parts. However, by actual count it has been found that the production of these parts requires over 2,700 separate operations.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Missouri.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken twelve bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it." Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Aristocratic Plumbing

Compared with that of a half century ago is a revelation. The ordinary bathroom of today rivals that of a millionaire fifty years back, and yet every year marks further progress towards perfection in sanitary plumbing. This is the class of work we are ambitious to turn out right along, and we are succeeding.

Fodder Hung in Trees.
In Cashmere a novel method of putting fodder away for winter use is in vogue. The chief industry of the people consists in raising fine wool and in making this into fabrics which have carried the name of the country all over the world. As in winter snow lies some five or six yards deep, supplies of hay are hung among the branches of trees, where they are easily reached by the flocks of sheep.

PICNIC SUPPLIES

When you go on your picnics, you will find that it's much cheaper and far more convenient for you to use the paper dishes we have than to try and take any of the home china or silver.

All there is to washing the dishes or silver is to gather them up and touch a match to them. Then, too, you are assured that you will neither break or lose any of your home service, which would be well worth what it costs to use the paper service.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

John Zumpstein, native Clearfield Countian, who has followed lumbering and the woods all his life, and like all true woodsmen, has not only a keen eye in his head, but is a naturalist, keen observer and a homely, old-fashioned philosopher in his way. Zumpstein and his son George, a chip off the old block, went out into the mountains North of town yesterday to hunt for huckleberries. They went up the Penfield road to Pool Hollow. They followed the old Sinnemahoning road across to the edge of Kennedy Park Game Refuge and continued on down Tar Kill draft to Lick Run. During the course of their journey and up to this time they had seen eight deer, all of which were encountered in the trek down Tar Kill.

Deciding to try the "Big Ridge" between Lick and Stone Runs, the two men crossed Lick Run and began the ascent toward the top of the ridge. The land rises rapidly at this point and is very rocky. When about three hundred yards up the mountain from the creek they came across a wide helving rock which had a fringe of huckleberry bushes growing out of the leaf mold deposit of the passing years and overhanging the edge of the rock. John stooped down to pluck some of the berries, and in stooping over to reach a branch hanging near the ground he pressed his face near the fringe of bushes and old woodsmen that he is blanched the color of chalk as the threw himself backward just as a rattlesnake, which had been coiled under the rock, thrust its ugly muzzle toward him almost like a lightning flash. The snake's fangs were not two inches from Zumpstein's face as he threw his head back and his escape from death was just a matter of those two inches. The snake, which he says, was apparently four feet in length and of the yellow diamond back species remained where he was first seen until the younger Zumpstein struck at it with a staff he was carrying. He bit the snake but failed to give it its death blow as it managed to drag itself into its den under the rocks, and despite the fact that the old man prodded and dug around for half an hour after his terrible fright and narrow escape, they were unable to dislodge and kill it.

Now, here comes another angle to the tale, which we might hesitate to believe on John Zumpstein's unsupported word, knowing the old codger as we do, but the son George, who hasn't had experience enough yet to be anyways near as big a liar as his rap, corroborated the old man in every detail.

It is a well established fact that the female rattlesnake never travels more than a quarter of a mile from its den or home, into which it retires in August and brings forth its young. Mr. Zumpstein says that the snake never rattled as he approached its hiding place and that as his glance fell upon it almost at the instant it flashed out through the berry bushes at him, he also saw at least two or three dozen wee snakes not longer than good sized angle worms lying on the rock about the big snake and as they approached to attempt to kill the snake it was seen to open its mouth and the little ones swarmed between the wide open jaws so quickly that every last one was out of sight almost in an instant.

Zumpstein Sr. said in all his sixty years in the woods of Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, he had never seen the equal to such a sight and thought for an instant he might have been "seeing things", but he excitedly called his son's attention to the phenomenon, the latter told him he too had seen them, and he then knew he had actually witnessed what he had long been told but never believed, that the female rattler, when alarmed while raising her family, always opened her mouth and allowed her young to seek refuge from danger in her stomach.

That should have been experience enough for one day, but not having found enough huckleberries to warrant going after them the Zumpsteins continued to the top of and across the ridge and down into Stone Run at the Houdeshell place. Starting up over the ridge from the run they saw a magnificent bull elk in the clearing where Houdeshell had his garden when he lumbered there. The elk was big as a horse, and made no attempt to get out of the neighborhood until the men approached within fifty yards of him. After circling the ridge and finding but few huckleberries, the Zumpsteins crossed the flat over to the Gum Swamp draft and there near the abandoned oil well saw a deer John says was as white as any white cow he ever looked at.

All this happened within a dozen miles of Clearfield, which would cause one to think we are not very far from

National Advertisers Boost Your Town!

Home Merchants Sell
Quality Goods Only!

of other home institutions, which further reacts in hurting your own personal business.

The cost of branded, nationally-advertised products is uniform. Standard trade-marked articles sell for the same price the world over, so you can positively know that if the mail-order fleecers tell you that they have something just as good at a lesser price, they are "stringing" you and are garbling the truth.

"Buying at your home-town stores is not only good business judgement, but it makes for the future growth of the town and the happiness and well-being of all the people in the town. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, these stores are conducted by live, congenial, accommodating men who have your every interest thoroughly at heart. They are stocked to sell you, on your terms, everything from a needle to a portable house, at the lowest possible prices consistent with quality and their good names are linked up with those of the manufacturer in such a way that you are satisfied. What more perfect combination for the extending of a perfect service can be imagined?"

"This fine town can only recover its one-time prosperity if every last individual in it pulls together toward a common end. Retail merchants, newspapers, bankers, professional men, farmers, et al must band themselves together with a firm determination not to make a move or commit an act that will injure ANYONE in the community. The secret of the regeneration of this town lies in a steadfast adherence to the Golden Rule. Every towns-person should do unto every other towns-person as he would have done him if their positions were reversed. Residents of a town have an all-important duty to perform towards building up the town's business and this cannot be done if mail-order entities are enriched at the expense of the home-town merchants.

"Keep the home fires burning. Reform your ways at once. Don't buy anything out of town. If your home-town merchant hasn't what you want, he can get it for you in a day or two and there after he will be completely stocked on that article. If perchance your dealer has not been progressive enough to patronize the best manufacturers and profit by their national advertising, then it is your duty to make it plain to him why you will not buy his unmarked, unbranded and inferior goods. Thus he will soon see the error of his ways and will stock the kind of goods he knows he can sell.

"Come to your senses, good people. Reason it out for yourselves. No matter at what angle you approach the subject, you can't advance a single plausible reason why you should patronize the catalogue camouflagers. They are parasitic creatures who live at the expense of the inhabitants of small towns without contributing an iota to the town's welfare in return. They are shameless, heartless and cruel in their dealings with the helpless individual. They are without soul, conscience or pride. They are infamous monsters who have achieved some measure of success because they have found it possible to fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time.

"Let's all take a vow this every day we will never buy another penny's worth of goods from out of town. Let's take a further vow that we will learn from the best magazines and newspapers what the leading trade-marked and branded goods are and demand that our home-town merchants supply us with them and them only. Let's all vow that we will have nothing to do in a business or social way with anyone in our town who buys goods out of our community. We will shun and despise such as he because we know that he is contributing nothing to the community and is therefore not entitled to anything in return.

"And good people, remember that you are fortunate, indeed, in being privileged to live in God's own country, where health and a normal, sane life are yours. Remember that your town is one typical Paradise on Earth if each and every one of you will put your shoulder to the wheel and do even more than your share towards making your town what it should be. Always remember that stand and made goods carrying a registered trade-mark sell for the same price the world over, and that you cannot therefore save a sou by purchasing from any other than your own home-town merchant. Remember that it is your duty to boost your town at every turn—not only is it your duty but your privilege, because as the town grows and succeeds, so will you also prosper.

the wilds, its dangers and its denizens.

State Centre Fish And Forestry Association Making Rapid Strides

The sportsmen of Philipsburg and the Morris and Cooper section of Clearfield county some time ago organized what they style the State Centre Game, Fish and Forestry Association and have already enrolled several hundred members. The aim and object of the association is to propagate, protect and conserve the game, fish and forests of central Pennsylvania.

It is the hope of those interested in the movement to enlist all the hunters, fishermen and conservationists in Centre and Clearfield counties in this organization in order that they may further the aims of the association.

Plans to be able to enroll at least 5,000 men in their cause before the end of the year. To that end committees have been appointed in the different districts and a campaign for members will be inaugurated following a meeting to be held in Philipsburg on Friday evening, August 1st, at 8 o'clock at which the members of the committees named are expected to be present. Odd Church Bells.

A curious story is told of the bells of Messingham church, England. It is said that a long time ago a traveler passing through Messingham noticed three men sitting on a stile in the churchyard and calling out, "Come to church, Thompson!" "Come to church, Brown!" "Come to church, Wilkins!" And so on. Greatly surprised, the traveler asked what it meant. He was told the place having no bells, they called the folk to church in this way. The traveler remarked that it was a pity that so fine a church should be without bells, and at the same time asked the men if they could make three for the church if he would pay for them himself. They readily agreed to do this. By trade the three men were a tinker, a carpenter and a shoemaker. When next the traveler passed that way he found the three men ringing three bells, which said "Ting, tonk, plunk," being made respectively of tin, wood and leather.

Traditions Lasting.

Tradition seems to have as powerful a hold upon the minds of the most highly civilized as well as the most barbarous peoples. For 500 years all rulers of Great Britain have been seated upon the traditional stone of Scone to be crowned. When Jacob, patriarch of Israel, had his vision of a ladder extending from earth to heaven with angels ascending and descending, he set up a cairn or monument in commemoration of the event, crowned it with a block of stone, which he had used as a pillow while he slept and the place was called Beth-el. A long train of traditions attaches to this stone.

DISEASED MINDS

Chicago's two bright young murderers, according to the defense, are not really responsible because they have "diseased minds".

That may be so. No human being can read those minds, any other minds, clearly enough to tell just where responsibility ends. As Whittier wrote:

"It is not ours to separate
The tangled skein of will and fate—
To show what metes and bounds may stand
Upon the soul's debatable land,
And between choice and Providence
Divide the circle of events."

Those boys' minds at present certainly appear diseased. They may be incapable now of exercising sound moral judgment. But the real question is how they reached such a state.

They may have been both born with a fatal lack of some normal children, strengthening with experience and practice. It seems more likely that their present defects of mind and conduct are really self-made.

If the will is free at all—if man is anything more than a mechanical toy played upon by some unseen power—life is an infinite series of choices. The person who starts early choosing to do what he knows is right will develop sound morals. The child who starts early deliberately avoiding the right choice, and preferring the thing that means momentary pleasure, gain, self-indulgence, instead of duty or justice or generosity, naturally loses little by little whatever moral insight and power of right choice he ever possessed.

Suppose, then, that those boys are now morally diseased and irresponsible, but as a result of killing their own moral sense through years of bad choice. Is there no penalty for that?

A THROTTLED PRESS

The Italian Fascist government, while letting up on some of its dictatorial methods since the recent uproar against it, has started a new course of coercion, this time against the press. Premier Mussolini says he finds it necessary to discipline papers that tend to excite opinion unduly, sowing the seeds of "edition".

"Naturally," he says, "the government's work for the country's pacification cannot go the length of allowing agitation against Fascism, to which Italy owes her recovery from the terrible post-war miasma."

That depends on the point of view. Before Mussolini seized supreme power by force, he would have regarded it as intolerable for any other party to criticize what he is doing. It is as a Republican administration in this country should forbid democratic newspapers from criticizing its acts, or a Democratic administration should do likewise with Republican newspapers.

We do not allow such tyranny in this country. No free country does. There is no greater safeguard for the public welfare, and no greater fundamental of human freedom, than a free press. Mussolini is making "Fascism" itself a "miasma", despite the good work it has done along some lines.

NOT A FREE SHOW

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Out of all the sordid horror of the oft repeated details of the Chicago murder, comes one tiny ray of sanity and right thinking.

Judge John R. Caverly, at least, will not allow the break down of all moral character in two degenerated boys to be the means of polluting the air with such horrors.

There will be no radio in his courtroom. Judge Caverly deserves the thanks of every sane person in the country. He will not make a free show of what should be a horror, from which every right-minded person should turn in weariness of spirit.

The vote of the radio fans on the matter was another hopeful sign. There's a good deal of morbid curiosity in the world. But cleanliness and sanity and right-thinking won out over morbid curiosity in the popular vote. More people voted "no" than those who voted "yes" but there are many people who find a vicarious sort of pleasure in beholding the evidences of disaster and crime.

It is right, of course, that justice should be done in the open. The court room of a country cannot be locked, for the course of justice offers no apology for its procedure. But the general tendency of the public to attend sordid trials out of mere curiosity is lamentable.

There is doubtless some excuse for men and women who attend them as a protest in a certain case, or who go to see that justice is done, or at least in order that they may find some method of protesting if they believe that justice has not been done.

That, at least, is a sincere procedure. But the court room crowded with idle curiosity seekers is a sorry comment upon our civilization.

Judge Caverly has uttered a protest against filling the air with testimony, some of which might be unfit for young ears and much of which may be unprofitable to the general public.

"I could send women and children out of my court room, if there should be testimony unfit for them to hear," he explained. "But I cannot tell some fourteen year old boy a thousand miles away to switch off his radio." In any event, it is evident that he believes that the rehearsal of so grave an offense should not be turned into a kind of horrid vaudeville for the whole world to hear.

Once in a while we are rejoiced to find, even in this rather jazzy age, such evidences of sound sense and sanity, as lead us to believe that, as a people, we haven't quite taken leave of our senses after all.

Shoe-Lace Annoyances.

The tips on shoe laces are a real annoyance to women, both because they often come off, leaving a fringed end, and because when they are on and tucked in the top of the shoe they frequently tear the stockings. One ingenious girl has freed herself of all such trouble hereafter by removing the tips when the laces are new, and winding them for a half inch or so down with sewing silk, using a needle to fasten the end. Men who are annoyed with the tips coming off their laces can supply new tips by twisting the ends with sealing wax. If a shoe lace breaks do not tie it together, but lap the fringed ends and sew them together neatly, running the sewing thread up through the good part of the lace.

Language of Jars in China.

In some parts of China jars are placed on the roof of houses as matrimonial advertisements. A jar turned upside down means that the daughter of the house is too young to marry. A jar laid with its mouth to the street indicates that the maiden is of age. When the girl is married the jar is removed.

TONIGHT'S GREAT CLOSING GATHERING

Of the Vacation Bible School in Trinity Church will have the attention of many homes in Clearfield. It cannot be otherwise, for children from the largest number of homes ever represented in such enrollment will participate. That means that those that design to get in, no matter what sitting they may secure, will have to come in good time. Turn out. Bring an offering for the picnic expenses.

But the exercises of themselves will prove attractive and very interesting. The spectacular will be a strong feature. The program is neither lengthy nor insipid.

The last word is now said about the picnic on Friday. Those that have charge have made the fullest and best arrangements for giving a good, full outing to the members of the school. They must be at the Presbyterian Church by 10 a. m. Friday, tomorrow, sure.

Energy and Laziness.

What we call laziness in a healthy human being is something very different. It has nothing to do with the lack of energy or love of repose. On the contrary, observes the New York Independent, the boy most inattentive to his lessons is frequently the boy whose inexhaustible energy wears the life out of his parents and teachers. He hates the fifth reader, but he will forget supper to finish his paper bound copy of Dead Eye Dick, the King of the Outlaws. He hates to write compositions in class, but he finds it no labor to compose squibs satirizing his classmates for the school paper, though the tax on his ingenuity is as great in the latter case as in the former. He does not like drawing lessons, but he loves to draw, and grumbles about bringing in wood for supper, but he will carry forests to build a bonfire. He finds gymnasium work a bore, but he submits to more exacting discipline from his baseball coach than any teacher would dare to impose.

Plenty of Coal.

The United States geological survey estimates that our reserves of easily accessible anthracite and bituminous coal is more than 1,500 billion tons, while half as much again of the same grades can be made accessible with little difficulty, aside from comparable tonnages of subbituminous coal and lignite. These figures are exclusive of Alaska, which possesses, according to the recent report of the survey, 150 billion tons. This estimate of Alaska alone would permit for an output of 10,000 tons a day for more than forty thousand years. But the United States proper possesses a known quantity of coal deposits which gives her two-thirds of the world's store untouched.

REPARATION CONFAB SWINGS PERILOUSLY NEAR THE SHOALS

By LUTHER A. HUSTON
L. N. S. Staff Correspondent
London, July 31—The allied reparation conference again swung perilously near the shoals of disaster today.
Committee number one and number three took up the French proposals for safeguarding the holders of German loan bonds while members of the interallied Reparation Commission met informally.
The Commissioners are here to sign an agreement with Germany, but Premier MacDonald does not want to summon the Germans to London until the Allies have agreed among themselves.
It was reported that Premier Herriot of France, is threatening to return home unless the French proposals are accepted. But it is generally believed if the proposals are rejected, both Colonel J. A. Logan, the American official observer, and Premier Theunis of Belgium, will be ready to step in with a new compromise to keep the conference alive.
The British object to the French attempt to keep deliveries in kind. They do not want the French to have latitude for amending the Dawes plan.
There was lively debate behind closed doors during the day.
A spokesman for the British delegation said that England must agree to the French proposals "which would be a great step forward."

Domestic Storm Warnings.
The following pleasant recipe for being happy, though married, was given by an old village woman to her daughter, who was married recently: "Do as your father and I did, my dear. Whenever he came home feeling contrary, he wore his hat on the back of his head, and that were a sign. And then I never said a word. And whenever I felt cross or crooked, I threw my shawl over my left shoulder, and then he never dared say a word."

One's Duty to Preserve Health.
Health is not a personal matter, but the responsibility for keeping well is in large part personal. The man who is determined to keep well for the sake of his own welfare must not put the burden of responsibility upon public health agencies. He must attend to it himself, and helped by such agencies as are available. There is nothing selfish in keeping oneself physically fit. It is a form of altruism.

How to Feed.
A fly cannot eat solids, but must first excrete a drop of salivary liquid to dissolve the sugar or other substances it may desire to eat. This salivary liquid passes out through the split tubes and is drawn back through them with the food in solution. At the base of the pad near where it joins the upright stem are several rows of horny teeth. These teeth scratch up the particles of a solid like sugar, and the saliva exuded through the tongue dissolves them, and the sweetened liquid is drawn back.

Foundation of All Good.
All good government must begin at home. It is useless to make good laws for bad people; what is wanted is this, to subdue the tyranny of the human heart.—Hugh R. Havel.

Quick Service For Busy Folks
For the busy man or woman we have a lunch service that you will appreciate. And, understand, the goodness of the meals and lunches is not sacrificed for speed. Everything is just as good as if it took half an hour to serve.

Long Lapse of Memory.
One of the most famous examples of official oversight occurred in connection with Drury Lane theater, where for nearly two centuries soldiers stood on guard outside during each performance. Many thought the guard was there in recognition of Drury Lane as the theater royal, but the real fact was that it was sent there originally by George II. to prevent a threatened riot. The order not being countermanded, the guard was continued until 1893.—London Times.

Animal Mimicry.
Observers of nature are frequently struck with the singular resemblances of insects to leaves, dried sticks and so forth, and these likenesses are supposed to have grown out of the necessity of protection against or concealment from enemies. An interesting example of this kind of resemblance was recently cited by a government naturalist, who exhibited a spider found inhabiting some rocks near Cannes, on which were also fastened the eggs of a species of moth. When at rest the spider exhibited almost precisely the same form and color as the moth cases surrounding it.—Exchange.

One's Duty to Be Pleasant

Being pleasant is not a matter of mood; it is a duty. The controlled voice, the kind word, the glance of understanding and sympathy may seem like very little things amid a rush of more important matters, but they oil the machinery of the world, and make all the wheels turn more smoothly for ourselves and others.

Pony Hero Saved From Disgrace

Next world's greatest pony hero has not been forgotten in his time of need. His five owners, members of a rescue party that freed him from his prison in the New mine near Bicknell Ind. a year ago succeeded in raising enough money to pay his board bill just before he was to have been sold at auction to satisfy the debt. For four days the warmth of his body kept his human companions alive at the bottom of the shaft after they had been imprisoned by a fall of earth.

Puzzle in Profit

At a recent examination the following question was asked: A woman bought 60 oranges at the rate of five for two cents. She sold them at the rate of five for two cents, and obtained a profit. How did she do it? Few could answer. The solution was: She sold 30 oranges at the rate of three for one cent receiving 10 cents for them. She then sold the remaining 30 oranges at the rate of two for one cent, receiving 15 cents for them. She therefore disbursed 24 cents and recovered her 24 cents, plus one cent profit.

ROBBER IS KILLED; BUDDY GETS AWAY

East Orange, N. J., July 31. (INS) — A robber was shot to death here today while trying to seize a mail pouch believed to contain about $35,000 in Federal Reserve Bank bonds on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway station. Another robber escaped in a taxi cab.

Eugene Stack, a young mail clerk, whose coolness and courage prevented the robber, was shot in the leg before he shot and killed the robber.

The attempted robbery took place at 5 o'clock.

An early morning train had dumped the mail sacks and bundles of newspapers upon the station platform just a short time before the robbery. There were five pouches on the platform, mostly filled with valuable registered mail.

The two robbers, well dressed and wearing cloth caps, alighted from the train when it stopped at the station. They strolled toward the mail car, attracting little attention.

Stack, who is only 22 years old and employed by the railway less than a year ago, picked up the sacks and began to pile them on an elevator.

The two men approached him, both drawing revolvers.

"Give us the money with the money in it," growled one of the robbers.

Without replying, Stack drew his own revolver and began firing at the men. The robbers opened fire at the same time. One bullet struck Stack's hand and another entered his leg.

The robbers, taking fright, began to back away. As they did so one of them fell with a bullet through his body. His corpse rolled down the station stairs. He was dead when police arrived.

Mrs. Charles F. Junior of the Dullons visited Clearfield relatives today.

Soul Also Needs Food

It is not wasted time to yield to the influences that uplift and ennoble the spirit as we pass through our busy days. The moment's pause to view the beautiful sunset to catch the strain of music that floats through the open window, to read the inspiring sentence on the printed page—these should be an essential part of the day's program for the soul needs food as well as the body and its neglect is never economy.

Pure Anglo-Saxon Word

One use of the word "weldkin" in modern English is the phrase "the weldkin" rings. The word is a good middle English one for sky or clouds; it is more commonly spelled "weldkin." The Anglo-Saxon word was "weldan." There is supposed to be a connection between "weldkin" and Anglo-Saxon "weldan" to roll, but this has not been proved.

Bacteria in Teeth

It is because of the presence of bacteria that it is absolutely essential to keep the mouth clean. The film of tartar on the teeth should especially be removed, not only because of its unpleasant appearance but because it contains many germs, produces heat and prevents the air from free access to the gums just adjoining the teeth.

Curwensville's Own Column

Rev. Max Lantz, of Altoona, was a Curwensville visitor yesterday. He was a former pastor of the M. E. Church here for several years, and the members of his former congregation are always pleased to welcome him when he makes the old town a call.

The Herald has changed its form from a seven column, four-page paper to an eight-page, six-column. Whether the change will be appreciated by the paper's patrons remains to be determined.

C. E. Dornan, who occupied a portion of the John Patton estate home on West State street, has removed his family to a dwelling on George street.

Orlie Norris and family, Prof. Grant Norris and family and some others spent the last three days of the present week out at the famous Greenwood camp on the mountains.

The Progress scout is somewhat handicapped this week in the line of news as he is nursing an affliction. He is not telling how he received the wound, either; someone else can have that pleasure.

The heavy showers yesterday afternoon did not mar the interest or the number who attended the Bible study convention at the Park in the evening, as the large building was comfortably crowded. Arrangements are being consummated to make this convention a regular yearly gathering in Curwensville, as the present one, and the first of the kind to be held in this section, has proved such a success.

For some years a Knights of the Golden Eagle organization flourished in Curwensville and had at one time over one hundred members. The news gathered yesterday, incidentally, that it was more likely that the Eagles would be reconstructed and another lodge built up.

Frank Dale and family motored over from their home in Altoona Tuesday and spent several days with relatives. He spoke as though business prospects were not of the brightest over there, and that the railroad shops were doing but little.

Some years ago it was no novelty to see half a hundred vehicles burdened with huge stacks of bark on their way to the tanneries. Now when one or two loads pass down State street it is curious to watch the number of folks who will drop whatever they are engaged at and watch the bark wagon from one end of the street to the other.

Nearly Million And Quarter Auto Licenses In Pennsylvania Now

Harrisburg, Pa., July 31 (INS).—With the opening of the half price registration fees tomorrow the State Highway Department today announced that approximately 1,130,000 commercial and passenger vehicles has been registered up to August 1, as compared with 1,064,000 for the entire year of 1923.

The revenues of the Highway Department have already reached a new record of over $20,000,000 for seven months as compared with $15,900,000 for the entire preceding year.

Approximately 970,000 passenger cars and 160,000 commercial car registrations have been issued up until today, according to Benjamin G. Emory, Registrar of the automobile division. Over 1,000 applications for registration to the half rates effective tomorrow are on file and plates are being shipped out today.

TANNERIES SEEK WAY TO REALIZE ON THEIR BY-PRODUCT

Harrisburg, July 31. (INS).—Representatives of the leading tanning companies of the state today agreed to raise a fund of $35,000 to conduct experiments that they hope will lead to the safe disposal of the trade wastes now discharged into the streams of the state by the tanneries.

Greatest Speed Test In History To Be Run At Altoona Labor Day

Altoona, Pa., July 29.—The greatest speed test in the history of automobile racing is forecast for the 250-mile championship classic on the Altoona speedway Labor Day, September 1. For the first time on any track, pilots have already started timing their motors on the great oval, six weeks before race day. Even in preparation for the grueling 500-mile endurance race at Indianapolis, drivers seldom began practice more than four weeks prior to the event.

Bob McDonogh, young protege of Tommy Milton, who startled the racing world here on June 14 at the first of the season's two contests, by finishing fourth in his maiden race on the fast board ovals, arrived in Altoona today with his mechanician ready to begin tuning on the mile-and-a-quarter bowl. His car and that of Milton, both completely rebuilt since the Fourth of July classic at Kansas City, will arrive here by fast freight from the Pacific coast early next week, and will be immediately placed on the track.

Special precautions have been taken by the speedway management to protect the drivers in their unusually early practice because of the great amount of improvement work in progress at the huge plant to prepare it for the Labor Day race. Corps of workmen have undermined one end of the racing deck to construct a second large automobile tunnel that patrons coming by motor may have greater facilities for getting away after the winner has been given the checkered flag.

Indicating the increased interest in automobile racing throughout the eastern part of the country, all precedents for advance ticket sales were broken when the seats for the Labor Day championship were placed on sale this week. More than two thousand mail orders had been received for reserved seats ready to be filled when the ticket racks were opened. Requests are pouring in from all parts of the country, and a record breaking crowd is anticipated.

Canon Chase Chasing Mr. Firpo Hard; Will Carry Demand To Mr. Coolidge

Washington, July 31 (INS).—Deportation of Angel Luis Firpo, South American prize fighter, was urged upon the Department of Labor today by Canon Chase of New York.

Chase told officials of the Immigration service that Firpo's relations with Blanca Lourdes, a South American girl who came on the ship with him from Buenos Aires, was sufficient reason for deportation and said that he intended to carry to President Coolidge his demand for sending Firpo home.

Few Sea Otters Remain.
Sea otters are courageous and playful. They will lie on their backs in the ocean and toss help for hours, taking great pleasure in catching it. Some say that the mother often sleeps on her back with the puppy held between her fore feet. She will never desert her young, and she keeps them at her side for more than a year. The skins are a rich bistre brown sprinkled over with glistering silver hairs. There is one of them up at the American Museum of Natural History. They are today, as a rule, only for museums.

Timely Apology.
Few things do more to lubricate the wheels of existence than the timely and kindly apology, and few things are more tiresome and irritating than the apology that is an insinuation and unnecessary. Well-bred persons are always ready with a word or two to say "I beg your pardon" and they feel not the slightest humiliation in making it a sort of apology. It is a remark that may be applied freely to perfect strangers as well as to close friends.

Australian "Butt-Reverer."
The bull-narac, used by the aborigines of Australia in religious ceremonies, is a sort of wood attached to a thong. It gives out a loud growling or "mooing" noise when whirled, and this is alleged to be the voice of a spirit.

The 5 Point Motor Fuel

The complete motor fuel

QUICK-ACTING, HARD-HITTING—two-fisted gasoline!
(That's Atlantic!)

Whether sport-loving motorist or efficiency-seeking truck owner, Atlantic gives you everything a motor fuel should have. For Atlantic is made right to begin with.

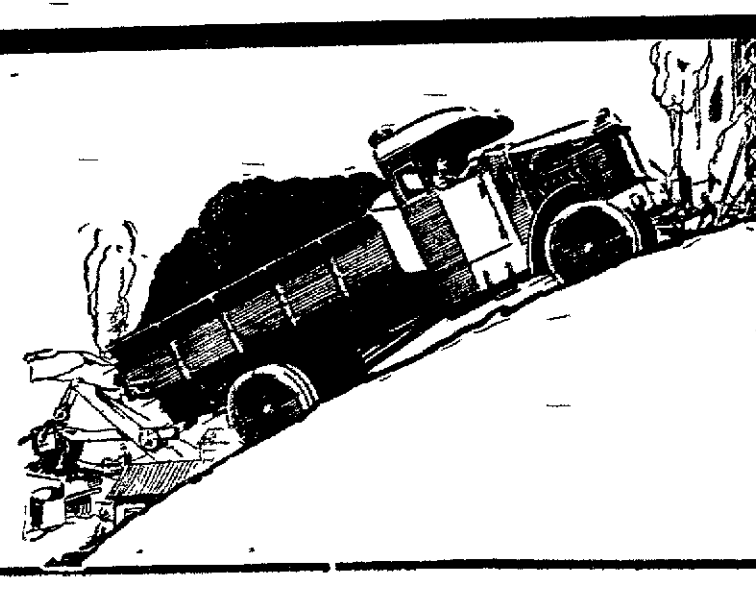

In itself it combines all the elements for action and power a motor fuel needs for maximum efficiency. And that efficiency is sustained efficiency. Some motor fuels perform well under certain favorable conditions, but Atlantic is efficient always. Atlantic is balanced gasoline. No matter what the speed, the load or the temperature, Atlantic ignites with certainty and burns completely—every particle translates into live, wheel-turning energy.

Prove it yourself! Note that Atlantic needs no coaxing when starting the motor. It wants no urging at the get-away. It asks no frequent gear-shifting help on the hills. And when you're going fast, the peppery "zing" will tell you that Atlantic has the quickness to keep up with the highest speed gasoline motor ever built.

as well as the plainest ones. And ladies usually gauge a man by the kind of foods he invites them to eat, rather than the so-called "style" of the place, which can never satisfy a healthy appetite. Bring your ladies here first, and they will never want you to invite them elsewhere. Quality and service pleases everybody.

JORDAN'S

Bordered Silk

HERE is an excellent example of how effectively bordered silk may be used. The printed design in black on the white gown affords all the trimming necessary, save the straps that break the plainness of the front. In buying a bordered material it is well to select one such as this with a design that may be cut for bandings and trimmings if necessary, as it allows greater latitude in the choice of a style. The sleeves are most attractive and are decidedly different from the average run.

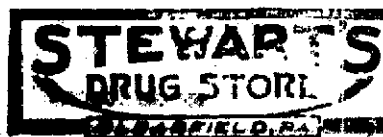

To Remove Grit From Eye.
Small foreign bodies which are not imbedded in the eyeball may often be removed by going into a dark room, looking up toward the lighting fixture, then turning the light on quickly, writes a correspondent. If the light is strong enough, it will cause a violent reaction which will cause the particle to be washed to the corner of the eye. It is then easily removed by means of a clean handkerchief.

Dangerous Liquids.
Gasoline, ether and benzine could not be kept on shelves in a cabinet in the house, the national board of fire underwriters says in a recent article. It is exceedingly dangerous, as either gasoline or benzine gives off at ordinary temperature inflammable vapor. Through these vapors, a light at a distance may ignite the liquid. If there is a small leak in the container in which any of the liquids are kept, sufficient vapor may form to cause a violent explosion. With ether the danger is even greater than with gasoline or benzine.

Joss Sticks.
Until recently the composition of the candles known as joss sticks was unknown to most people. A stem of bamboo is rolled in a substance consisting of fourteen different odorous drugs. One of these protects the candles from rats and mice. The camphor used in the manufacture causes the joss sticks to burn steadily.

Soap Mentioned in Bible.

The word soap is to be found in the Bible. In Jeremiah, Chap.
